use of the radio in reaching prospective students. The keynote of all our efforts is to be "the finer things for the finer girl."

Then Dr. Anderson unfolded his dream of the finest collections in the world of Georgiana, Wesleyana, data and literature on woman's education, and rare books. "I'll venture there are fifty tons of such material lying within our reach that ought not to perish, but which are perishing from fires and other natural causes," he lamented. "We should surround ourselves with the atmosphere of scholarship by collecting these things and preserving them in a safe place for posterity!"

A further suggestion at Mrs. Hinton's request, was that finest and most useful of all memorials be erected by friends of the college in the form of buildings, an organ, or furnishings for a room in the college.

A foretaste of this historical atmosphere was provided in the alumnae room by the display of old diplomas, programs, catalogs, letters, and costumes that have been presented by friends and former graduates of the school. Minnie (Bass) Burden, who has been closely associated with the college since she was three years old, her father having been its president, is in charge of the historical collections. She was present at the meeting, and conducted the devotional.

Miss Horn told in an authoritative and forceful manner how to reach high school pupils. A trip to the college is the most impressive of all advertisements, she affirmed. Next to this, a visit by some attractive and outstanding student of the college to the secondary school is most effective. Exhibits on the high school bulletin boards, and articles in their school papers should bring out the most distinctive features the college has to offer. She mentioned the other usual methods of approach, and added that valuable contacts could be made through the Georgia Educational Association which is to meet in Macon.

Discussing the possibility of alumnae aid in planting the grounds of the new college location, Octavia (Burden) Stewart, president of the Macon Garden Club, also chairman of our alumnae building and grounds, suggested the planting of trees in avenues or groves, and of garden plots by various groups but advocated that provision be made first for caring for such trees, shrubs and flowers. She mentioned a number of historic trees and gardens from which specimens might be obtained.

Annie (Bates) Haden of Atlanta was appointed to investigate the plans of college authorities and the possibilities of securing a nationally known landscape architect to furnish a general plan.

Plans for the new president's formal inauguration, modelled after those of other foremost colleges in the country, were most intriguing as presented by Linda (McKinney) Anderson, trustee.

Tentative dates for the celebration are April 8 and 9. Invitations are to be sent all the outstanding colleges in the world. There will be a colorful processional of dignitaries, an address by a speaker distinguished in the academic world, the inaugural address by Wesleyan's president, outlining the policies of his administration, and greetings from the representative of other colleges, a luncheon, a pageant in the afternoon, a tea, a brilliant dinner. The second day will be alumnae day, featured by a historical exhibition, and possibly a historical program. Chairmen and committees are to be appointed.

Other members of the executive committee present at the meeting were: Lucy (Evans) Stephens of Atlanta, treasurer; Jean (Oliphant) Rentz, of Milledgeville, recording secretary; Dorothy (Blount) Lamar of Macon, former trustee; Edith (Stetson) Coleman of Macon, trustee; Ida (Mangham) Coleman of Macon, class president; Elizabeth (Anderson) Rankin and Josephine Willingham of Macon president and secretary of the Conservatory Alumnae Association. These members were guests of the college for luncheon, and the meeting was continued in the afternoon.

All alumnae of the college are asked to assist in assembling the collections suggested by Dr. Anderson of everything ever written by a Georgian or about a Georgian in book or magazine form; everything ever written by or about a Wesleyan student in book or magazine form; everything ever written by or about a woman on the subject of woman's education; rare books; old furniture, old costumes or trinkets of interest to the college; Confederate stamps, and everything that may be secured or even borrowed for the historical exhibition in April.

Now We Are Collectors!

This is an age of documents. It is not enough merely to be; one must have a birth certificate to prove that one is. It is not enough to know that one's grandfather several times removed was a captain in the Revolutionary War; one must have documentary evidence. It is not enough to know that one is the oldest college for women, one must have old letters proving the purpose of the founders, records of original speeches in the legislature, first catalogs with courses of study, old letters of students, old photographs, old commencement programs, original essays. These old mementoes are no longer merely old mementoes; they are the documentary evidence of Wesleyan's history and purpose; they are Wesleyan's birth certificate.

The alumnae association, realizing these things, has decided upon the collection and preservation of these materials as one of its major undertakings. Many individual alumnae have already sent valuable documents to the college; our united purpose and effort will build up a valuable heritage for the college for women.

Recently Harry H. Stone, husband of Susie (Bonnell) Stone, 1882, sent some old catalogs. Among them was one for 1844. In its pages is answered more conclusively than all the argument in the world the question now raised sometimes by scholars and historians of other states:

Did the founders plan a college or a finishing school? President Ellison in its pages says:

"The college has just completed its sixth year. Its success in the opinion of its friends, is complete; and they no longer have any misgivings with regard to the accomplishment of the noble enterprise in which they have been engaged—that of substituting a solid and thorough moral, literary, and scientific education, for that worse than useless trash too often obtained from many fashionable Female Boarding Schools. It is the object of the College to train with as much effort and care the minds of our daughters as we do those of our sons.

"Every argument that will uphold the collegiate education of Doctors, Lawyers, Ministers, and men of business will apply with equal force to females."

Old Catalogs

Professor Harry H. Stone, librarian of Emory Academy, sent to the Candler Memorial Library bound catalogs of Wesleyan for 1844, 1850-51, 1851-52, 1852-53, 1853-54, 1854-55, 1855-56, and 1856-57.

This is a most valuable addition to the historical material of Wesleyan. The catalog of 1844 is the only one in the '40's in the possession of the college, and material on these earliest years of Wesleyan's history is extremely rare.

Professor Stone has a deep personal interest in the college. The 1844 catalog lists W. H. Ellison, second president of Wesleyan, who was Professor Stone's uncle by marriage; 1850 gives George W. W. Stone, professor of natural science, his father; 1851, Walter R. Branham, professor of history and moral philosophy, his nearest neighbor for more than 40 years; 1852, John M. Bonnell, professor of natural science, and later president of the college, his wife's father; 1852, Osborne L. Smith, professor of mental and moral philosophy, later president of Emory and Professor Stone's professor of Latin in 1876.

Wesleyan is especially anxious at this time to get a complete file of catalogs. She needs copies for all the earliest years of the college's history, especially those for the forties and for these years:

1857-58, 1858-59, 1859-60, 1860-61, 1868-69, 1873-74

The Wesleyan, 1920

The selecting of the site for the original building of Wesleyan is described in the following story copied from "The Wesleyan" for October, 1920, and presented by Mary (Chatfield) Wheless. It was printed then from a manuscript found among the papers of Rev. John W. Talley, one of Georgia's pioneer Methodist preachers. It was written

June 11, 1875, for publication in the Southern Christian Advocate:

The approaching commencement of the Wesleyan Female College awakes in my mind many circumstances which occurred in Macon, Ga., during the year 1835, also some incidents in my life and ministry.

I was appointed the pastor of Mulberry Street Methodist Church for that year. In June I secured the services of Reverends Jno. Howard and Elijah Sinclear of the Methodist Church and also Rev. Mr. Bragg of the Episcopal Church and Rev. Mr. Holmes of the Baptist Church.

The meeting lasted ten days, embracing the second and third Sundays in June. A very remarkable occurrence took place on the Saturday before the third Sunday. In compliance with a notice a gentleman not a member of the church posted all business houses as well as all places of amusements were closed.

From that meeting the Methodist Church in Macon, Ga., as well as Methodism throughout the state, received an impetus for good, especially the educational interests of Georgia. I may add the female educational interests of all protestant countries. That wave of light is breaking in effulgent glory on heathen coasts.

Mr. Elijah Sinclear, after the meeting, developed a plan for the building of a Female College in Macon. He had been spending some time with me, attending to his agency of a scholarship in Randolph-Macon College in Virginia. He had on several occasions conversed with some friends on the subject of a Female College. Col. Howard, then of Milledgeville, was enthusiastic, he wanted it near the seat of government and made liberal offers if located in the vicinity of Milledgeville. The first few days after our meeting closed Mr. Sinclear and myself visited a number of our new members to whom he presented his scheme of a Female College in Macon. All entered into his views. He and I spent one day of that week prospecting on the prominent hills about Macon for a site. Between ten and twelve o'clock on Tuesday or Wednesday of that week we examined the eminence west of the City. That we might have a better view, we each took positions on the stump of a pine. Brother Sinclear had the soul of a prophet and the eye of an artist. He gazed west. There reposed, as a lovely maid, Vineville budding into a beautiful village. Northeast were the heights of East Macon and the ruins of old Fort Hawkins. In the vale below us gushed a bold spring of delightful water. The city seemed to nestle in loveliness at our feet. The rivulet meandered through the city until its limpid waters mingled with the Ocmulgee river, which formed almost a crescent from northwest to southeast, giving a magnificent landscape from Fort Hawkins around to the southeast. Brother Sinclear seemed to have grasped the whole scene and in rapture he exclaimed, "This is the place, here shall rest the first Female College!"

We went immediately over to Gen. Robt. Augustus Bell's who was mayor of the city. The General and lady had joined our church during the meeting. We spent several hours with Brother Bell and family that afternoon. Brothers Bell and Sinclear went to the proper officer to secure the site at once as the city was selling those lands for one hundred dollars per acre. That secured, Brother Sinclear threw his banner to the breeze and called for a public meeting the next week. He secured Hon. A. H. Chappell as orator for the occasion.

Mulberry Street Church was again crowded. Mr. Chappell stood on a platform in the altar and delivered the first speech ever made in favor of female colleges.

Female education had many friends. I will name a few: Dr. L. Pierce, the patriarch of Georgia Methodism and the knight of female education; Hon. Duncan G. Campbell, of Washington, one of Georgia's brightest stars, an honest man and a Christian; Hon. Mr. Chandler, one of the judges of the United States District Court.

I wish I had a copy of Brother Sinclear's speech. If I was able I would have it graven on plates of gold to be hung in the spacious chapel and I would erect at the gate a memorial of brass to E. Sinclear.

The Georgia Female College encountered fearful storms and was dashed upon the breakers. Sinclear had gone down to the grave but there were not wanting those who saw the advantages that Methodism in Georgia would secure if the college should be got off the reef and brought into a peaceful harbor.

Thanks be to God the patriarch of Methodism in Georgia had such an influence in the church and state. He came in the might of his God, saved the College, repaired the injuries, refitted and rebaptized her to the work of elevating woman to her place, intellectually, socially and morally.

Dr. Lovick Pierce is not second to any man in zeal in successful labors. He has done more than any other man to promote Methodism in Georgia and to advance the highest grade of education, male and female.

There she sits, the unrivaled mistress and queen of Female Colleges! Her diadem is gemmed by hundreds of brilliant alumnae scattered all over the southern states and even across the Pacific in that benighted land of China, and many households are sanctified by the influence of her educated saintly women.

Ninety-Fourth Opening Day

Dr. Dice Robins Anderson, fifteenth president of Wesleyan, presided at the opening of the ninety-fourth session of the college on September 16.

The devotional part of the program was led by Dr. W. R. Mackay, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Macon, and Mayor Glen Toole of Macon welcomed the students on behalf of the city.

Annie (Bates) Haden, A.B., 1888, newly elected alumnae trustee of Wesleyan, gave the principle address of the morning. She said:

"Dr. Anderson—Wesleyan Girls: To call you 'Wesleyan girls' gives you the hand-clasp and password of that honored fraternity of college women, the Wesleyan alumnae. Let us congratulate you today and bring you loving greetings in their name.

"This is a great day for you. Probably none other will surpass it but the graduation day and the wedding day. We are told that the first hour on a foreign shore is the last to be forgotten. New scenes, new faces, surprises, make an imprint on the mind. You will recall many years hence the happenings on this, your first day at college.

I feel like one watching the christening of an air craft. After the formal ceremonies, the cord is loosened, and the plane moves out in the blue above. The pilot has before him a complete photographic panorama of the earth beneath him, made by others who have gone over the trail before him.

"As I look at you, so full of youthful beauty, with ambitions and nerves all tingling to start on your voyage (to you a voyage of discovery), I would hasten all formalities and let you start on your quest. You will have your maps and charts before you—these prepared by devoted teachers. But like the pilot of the air craft it is for you to make the voyage.

"It is individual courage, concentration of effort, fineness of poise that will bring you safely to the landing. More important than learning itself is how to use it. The best that any college can do is to quicken the senses and clear the judgment.

"In our mother's day a girl was sent to a 'finishing school.' The social graces were carefully taught, how to enter and leave the drawing room, how to sit, how to walk—but now the student who enters college must achieve something that will stand the test of practical living. Whether for better or worse, the demand of solid service awaits the boy or girl graduate.

"Will you let me be serious for a while? Recently Mr. Harry Stillwell Edwards, Georgia's distinguished writer, in an article in one of our papers lamented the universal complaints in the commercial stress of our times and said, 'As a matter of comparison these are halcyon days as viewed against the era lying between 1865 and 1875. The child of the late sixties who went to school at all shared his few books with brother or sister or even neighbor's child. And they were clothed in recovered fragments of old garments. Reading, writing, and arithmetic embraced the sum of their school days. The parents of these children were professional men, mechanics, and farmers, whose incomes were mere pittance.—They were the most courageous of earth. They were the people who fought the greatest war of history. They met the new conditions undaunted, gave their children what advantages they could, wrested their state from the enemies and laid the foundation for the splendid triumphs of this age.' These were your forefathers. These were the founders of Wesleyan.

"If I could have your attention but once, I would press into that crowded moment the thought of obligation to these noble forebears of ours. Obligations to meet your opportunities is what I am sure you already feel. We are looking to you, our boys and girls, to be the cheerleaders in this day of anxious care. Sincerity and fidelity to duty, and some of that hopeful courage of our 'hero forefathers' will make you these important factors.

"Dr. Anderson, we want you to know how greatly we appreciate you as our new president. If you could find a place for us, a post graduate course for mothers and grandmothers, we would all be here.

"May the years 1931 and 1932 be Wesleyan's best!"

Conservatory Opening

The formal exercises which marked the opening of the Wesleyan conservatory for another year were held in the conservatory chapel Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The principal address was delivered by Dr. D. R. Anderson.

Besides the address by Dr. Anderson, short messages of welcome to all the students and especially to the freshmen were given by Yona Bell, president of the Y. W. C. A., and Frances Holder secretary of the Student Government association.

Musical selections by the two new scholarship pupils were an important part of the program. Evelyn McDaniel, Fort Valley, a coloratura soprano, sang, and Jeannette Corbitt, Albany, played a piano solo.

Arrangements for the Master Artist series are being made, and plans whereby Padrewski will be on the list of artists are practically concluded.

A series of faculty recitals will also be given this year. The recitals will be heard at intervals throughout the winter.

The conservatory will graduate students this year with the degree of Bachelor of Music for the first time in several years. Five new courses have been added to the curriculum to make this possible. At the present there are 28 full courses offered at the conservatory, including: Piano, Violin, Voice, Organ, Harmony, Keyboard Harmony, Solfeggio, History of Music, Chorus, Form and Analysis, Counterpoint Composition, Ensemble, Music Appreciation, Public School Music, Art, China Painting, Oratory, Normal Expression, English, English Drama, French, Italian, Journalism, Bible, Psychology, Home Economics, Physical Education.

New Faculty Members

The new Ph.D. member of Wesleyan's faculty is Dr. Raleigh M. Drake of the psychology department. He received his doctorate from the University of London, his A.B. and A.M. degrees from the University of Boston. He is a native of Idaho.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Drake are talented musicians, she on the piano and he the cello. Both have studied extensively in America and Europe. Mrs. Drake received the American Matthay scholarship to the London Conservatory the past summer, and studied under Matthay, director of the conservatory. While in Boston, she was the pupil of Miss O'Brein Heinrich Zibhardt, and Helene Dietrich. She has taught for twelve years in Boston and has had four compositions for the piano published by Carl Fisher.

Dr. Drake studied under Hans Hess in Chicago and Alvin Schroeder in Boston. Dr. and Mrs. Drake have appeared on a number of programs at Wesleyan and in Macon. They have one child, and are making their home in the city.

The position of head of the department of mathematics will be filled this year by Professor J. W. Blincoe while Professor C. W. Bruce is on a year's leave of absence.

Professor Blincoe is a Phi Beta Kappa, having received the A.B. degree from Randolph-Macon College and the M.A. degree from the University of Virginia. He has also completed the residence requirements for the Ph.D. degree at the University of Virginia. Professor and Mrs. Blincoe have one child.

DR. RALEIGH M. DRAKE
Professor of Psychology

Miss Elizabeth Mayo Cate of Nashville, Tenn., will be instructor in Latin and Greek. Miss Cate received the A.B. and M.A. degrees from Peabody College. She is a sister of Mary Lou (Cate) Clark, A.B. '27, who served as president of the Y. W. C. A. during her senior year.

Miss May White of Augusta is instructor in physical education, taking the place of Miss Virginia Camden who is now in the physical education department at Cornell University. Miss White has her A.B. degree from Coker College and will receive the M.A. degree in physical education from Columbia University in June, 1932, after a year's teaching experience.

Miss Winston Lamar of Selma, Ala., will be assistant librarian at Wesleyan this year. She has the B.A. degree from Smith college, conferred in 1930, and graduated from the Emory Library School in 1931. For the past few months she has been working in the Carnegie Library of Atlanta.

Throughout the Generations

Among the new girls this year are four great granddaughters of alumnae, six granddaughters, and fifteen daughters. "Once a Wesleyan girl, always a Wesleyan girl."

Elizabeth Walker of Macon is the fourth generation of her family in direct line to come to Wesleyan. Her great grandmother, Ida (Winship) Mangham, was in the class of 1859; her grandmother, Lizzie (Mangham) Hill, 1885; her mother, Fannie (Hill) Walker, 1907.

It is extremely interesting that, besides these four members of Elizabeth's family, seven great great aunts, two great aunts, and two aunts also attended Wesleyan. Every one of the eight daughters of Isaac Winship and Martha Cook Winship, the first white child born in Macon were sent to Wesleyan. Martha Cook Winship was born in Old Fort Hawkins.

Elizabeth's aunt, Ida (Mangham) Coleman, is secretary of her class, 1890, and is a member of the executive committee of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association.

The Class President

Eleanor Anthony, new president of the freshman class from South Orange, N. J., is the daughter of Sarah (Cornell) Anthony of the class of 1904. Eleanor is the granddaughter of Dr. Bascom Anthony of Macon, for many years a trustee of Wesleyan, and a cousin of Dr. Walter Anthony, pastor of Mulberry Street Methodist Church.

Phi Mu Descendant

Lora Solomon who transferred to Wesleyan from Randolph-Macon College this year, is the daughter of Lina (Bardwell) Solomon. Her great great aunt, Sarah Amelia (Bardwell) Wright, one of the earliest members of the Philomathean Society at Wesleyan, was the designer of the first Philomathean badge. Lora is a granddaughter of Lillian (Roberts) Solomon, formerly third vice-president of the Alumnae Association of Wesleyan. She has made

ELIZABETH WALKER

whose mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother were students at Wesleyan her home with her aunt, Jane (Bardwell) Peeler, ex '06, since the death of her mother. Seven of her aunts came to Wesleyan.

Student From Paris

Genevieve Vasset, from Paris is a new member of the senior class. She was selected by the Institute of International Education to receive the scholarship offered by Wesleyan. She was a student of the University of Dijon. She came over on the S. S. Paris with a number of other students from foreign countries to American colleges and universities, and spent several days at the Institute's camp at Storm King School, Con-wall-on-Hudson, before coming to Wesleyan.

According to records given by the new girls themselves, the following relationships may be traced:

Mr. Orr Donates Sidney Lanier Material

Mr. Oliver Orr of Macon, nephew of Kate (Oliver) Cooper, A.B., '74, has given to Wesleyan a copy of a Commencement Address by Sidney Lanier, delivered before the Furlow Masonic Female College in June, 1869.

This address is an addition to the store of material on Lanier that Mr. Orr has given to Wesleyan in the past few years. He is intensely interested in Lanier and has made valuable contributions to the library of Johns Hopkins, including data on the Southern poet.

of Johns Hopkins with this inscription: "An admirer of Sidney Lanier who has helped materially in the gathering of this collection."

Dr. John C. French, librarian, wrote to Mr. Orr: "You can see by our placing your photograph in such a prominent place what we think you have done for the collection. Everyone passing in and out of this beautiful room cannot help passing it. This will link your name with that of Lanier for future generations to see the work you have done to perpetuate his name."

What Do You Think of Dr. Anderson?

"What do you think of the new president?" is, of course, the question most often asked Wesleyan during these first weeks of a new administration.

It is not hard to answer. Dr. Anderson is a man of individuality and of distinctive characteristics, a man about whom everybody has a very definite opinion. Here is the way one alumna described him:

"Though he is 51 years old, he doesn't look it or act it. He is a man of medium height with a square-shaped, friendly face, iron-grey hair and bright blue eyes. Like the man, the eyes are ever alert. They catch and hold the eyes of the person to whom he is talking; they penetrate; they muse; they twinkle; and sometimes, they even dance! They add tremendously to the man's charm.

"He smiles easily and warmly and when he is much amused, chuckles deep, joyous, throaty chuckles. He loves to talk. He talks deliberately in a pleasing, well-modulated voice with a fine feeling for the right word. He is an omnivorous reader and a lover of good pictures."

The People of Macon

In a feature article in The Macon Telegraph on Wesleyan's new president, Willie (Snow) Ethridge, begins:

"He is the finest fellow that has hit this town in many a year," declared an eminent Macon lawyer recently when the name of Dr. Dice Robins Anderson was mentioned. And that seems to be the consensus of opinion."

She describes him as "a keen conversationalist, a good sport, a man with much charm, a great scholar, a writer of papers on historical and educational subjects, a recognized authority on the history and government of the state of Virginia, and a broad-minded, progressive educator."

He has entered whole-heartedly into civic interests of Macon, is a member of the Rotary Club, of the Palaver Club, of Mulberry Street Methodist Church. He made the opening address at Mercer University, spoke at Cherokee Heights Methodist Church on October 11, addressed the Macon Writers' Club on "Biography" on November 3, addressed the Kiwanis Club on "What the College Should Do for Its Students."

Mr. W. R. Rogers, Jr., chairman of the finance committee of the Board of Trustees, said:

"I wish to state that with my knowledge of old Wesleyan, I do not believe there has ever come to the college a man who was better fitted for the position of president."

Dr. Anderson has made himself known outside of Macon also. He attended the Centennial Celebration of LaGrange College on October 7; he was present at the district conferences of north and south Georgia during the summer; he will speak on the opening night at the North Georgia Conference and on the opening night of the South Georgia Conference; he addressed the Georgia Educational Association convention in Swainsboro November 18. He attended the Ecumenical Conference in Atlanta and was honor guest at a meeting of the Wesleyan alumnae. He has made two radio speeches over the broadcasting station in Lynchburg, Virginia, one on Wesleyan, the Pioneer College for Women, and one on Georgia, the Empire State of the South.

The Students

The general opinion of the students was characteristically expressed by one new girl as she opened her morning mail in the college post office and announced to any-and-everybody-interested:

"This is the sweetest man!"

"Who is?" asked a classmate.

"Dr. Anderson. Here he has sent me a card, writing on his visiting card in his own hand, wishing me happiness on my birthday. I don't see how he finds the time."

This is only one of the many little courtesies Dr. Anderson shows to "his girls", making them feel that the notice posted on his office door since the opening day in September was written in all sincerity: "To all Wesleyan girls, I want you to feel free to come to my office at any time and about anything. I want very much to feel that I know each one of you."

One of the students of journalism, with Miss Garner, head of the journalism department, went for her first interview to Dr. Anderson.

"As we neared the president's door" she wrote in The Watchtower later, "I clutched my pencil and felt my meagre knowledge of interviewing slipping from me. But before I knew it, I was being introduced to a young-looking though white-haired man with the nicest smile I have ever seen who did not seem in the least upset that I had interrupted his work. After we were seated, I found myself answering his questions about myself instead of taking notes in a proper journalistic way. Dr. Anderson had so completely put me at my ease I forgot all rules for interviewing."

Beneath the spirit of comradeship with which the students meet him on the golf course and in the Wesleyan swimming pool is a feeling of confidence in him and of respect for his opinions, expressed in a genial but authoritative manner and with a note of the utmost sincerity.

The 1932 Veterropt is dedicated to Dr. Anderson.

The Alumnae

In introducing Dr. Anderson to the Executive Committee of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association in session at the college on October 10, Alleen (Poer) Hinton, president, said:

"Dr. Anderson has an understanding appreciation of Wesleyan's past and an understanding faith in her future. Nobody who has met Dr. Anderson needs to be introduced to him again. Wesleyan and Macon have met him, and he is now not our new president but our president."

And Wesleyan's president expressed his feeling of intense admiration for the college, her "great spiritual assets and marvelous history," his assurance in her deep and lasting foundations, and his plans and hopes for her future.

In closing his speech he said, with characteristic enthusiasm, "We must hold fast to the finer things that are Wesleyan's; above all we must cherish her spiritual qualities which are a treasure of imperishable value. If the spirit of God, of beauty, of truth, of friendship abide here, material things will come. We must be true, loyal, resourceful, self-sacrificing. But believe me, we have something worth sacrificing for!"

Not only does Dr. Anderson want to know every student, but he wants to know every alumna. He asks that every visiting alumna be shown to his office that he may speak to her, and he never forgets a name. He feels, with Dr. James B. Angell, former president of the University of Michigan, that "In a very just sense and in a very large degree the fortunes of the college are committed into the hands of its alumni."

On The Campus

Conservatory girls who returned this year were greeted by old college buildings in a new garb. The Conservatory is resplendent in its four hundred and fifty gallons of white paint on all the outside woodwork. The dining room, too, has been completely done over. Several of the dormitory rooms have new walls and ceilings. Studios have been painted and practice pianos tuned. One of the reception rooms has been decorated, and several new pieces of furniture, gifts of the Conservatory Alumnae Association, have been added to the room.

It is interesting to notice the distances from which new students have come to Wesleyan College and Wesleyan Conservatory this year. In the two institutions are:

Genevieve Vasset, Paris, France; Gladys Koh, Seoul, Korea; Miriam Anderson, South

Orange, N. J.; Eleanor Anthony, South Orange, N. J.; Carolyn Brooks, Mt. Gilead, Ohio; Dorothy Barbe, Lake Charles, La.; Sally Louise Gillespie, Chicago, Ill.; Carolyn Hickey, Columbus, Ohio; Mary Dimple Mabry, Shreveport, La.; Elizabeth Morrell, Princeton, W. Va.; Lois Traylor, Fort Smith, Ark.; Barbara Whitmore, Portland, Maine; Sara Frederick, San Bernardino California; Maxine Gloye, Michigan City, Ind.; Audrey Jones, Batesville, Ark.; Helene King, Helena, Ark.; Mary Elizabeth Klingner, Springfield, Mo.; Ruth Ann Koerner, Asbury Park, N. J.; Julie Lewis, Helena, Ark.; Marjorie Martin, Blytheville, Ark.; Eileen Pearson, Schenectady, N. Y.; Dorothy Ross, Columbus, Miss.; Susanne Wilson, Hopkinsville, Ky.; Mary Woodburn, Central City, Ky.; and Harriet Campbell, Fort Thomas, Ky.

Kathryn Lynch of Atlanta is newly-elected business manager of The Wesleyan magazine, taking the place of Spencer Jack, who did not return to Wesleyan. Charmian Stuart of Morristown, Tenn., who won the poetry contest sponsored by the magazine last year, is assistant business manager. Dixie Jones is editor-in-chief of The Wesleyan.

Miss Elizabeth Cate, new instructor in the department of Latin and Greek, was elected sponsor of the senior class, a green and gold class. She takes the place of Miss Margaret Bell, who is teaching this year at Winthrop College in South Carolina.

A series of parties for new girls at Wesleyan has kept away the bugaboo "homesickness" during the first few weeks. Besides the Y. W. C. A. Student Government tea, Athletic Association party, and District Club parties that are part of every fall, there have been treasure hunts, swimming parties, backward parties, campfire parties, and pajama parties. The Y. W. C. A. has an interesting new feature this year in the series of informal afternoon teas in the cabinet room where boarding students, faculty, and town girls may get acquainted.

Dr. W. F. Quillian, former president of Wesleyan, and Mrs. Quillian were welcomed by Wesleyan recently when they came for a visit to their daughter, Christine, president of the junior class. Dr. Quillian has covered more than 18,000 miles in the past few months in the interest of the Methodist Board of Christian Education. A telegram expressing his good will and affection for Wesleyan was received on the opening day.

Mrs. Quillian was entertained by a number of the friends during her brief stay in Macon. Dr. and Mrs. Quillian attended the Ecumenical conference in Atlanta in October.

The Y. W. C. A. plans to build a hut or log cabin in the woods on the back campus where groups of girls may go for recreation or retreat. This was one of the many plans made by the Cabinet during its week-end camp at Joycliffe before college opened.

The faculty honored Dr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Akers with a reception in the college parlors on September 30. Receiving the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Akers, Dr. Anderson, Dean and Mrs. Leon P. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Raleigh M. Drake, Professor and Mrs. J. W. Blincoe, Miss Elizabeth Cate, Miss May White, and Miss Winston Lamar. Members of the Presidents' Council assisted in serving.

The wedding of Dr. Akers and Mrs. Akers, who was formerly Miss Elizabeth Scott of Knoxville, Tennessee, was solemnized on September 2 in Knoxville, Professor J. M. Almand, of Wesleyan, being one of the attendants. Mrs. Akers was formerly a member of the faculty of the University of Tennessee. The couple are making their home at "The Oaks," home of Mrs. Clare (Johnson) Walker on Forsyth Road. A wedding gift from the Wesleyan faculty was a handsome silver platter.

Betty Lou (White) Fisher, A.B., '11, daughter of Mrs. Florrie C. White, and her husband, Douglas Fisher, drove to Macon from their home in Chicago for a visit this fall. Mrs. White was hostess at a tea in their honor; Misses Maude Chaplin, Ernestine Grote, Louise Lin and Banks Armand entertained with a dinner at the Tip Top Tea Room, and Dr. Ernest Corn and Polly (Pierce) Corn complimented them with a dinner at their home on Courtland Avenue.

Miss Anne Chenault Wallace represented Wesleyan Conservatory at the meeting of the Georgia Association of Teachers of Speech held at Agnes Scott on October 10. The Georgia Association is a part of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech.

Mr. Joe B. Hill, head bookkeeper in the business office, made a score of 29 on the Wesleyan golf course, the lowest score that has ever been made on the course.

A "Charm School," featuring talks on health, beauty and charm, and ending with a style show on Hallowe'en, was held in October. The chapel periods for several days were on "charm."

Members of the Wesleyan faculty attending the Ecumenical conference in Atlanta October 16-18 are: Dr. D. R. Anderson, Dean Leon P. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Wiggins, Professor and Mrs. M. C. Quillian, Miss Louise Rivers, Professor and Mrs. G. E. Rosser, Miss Virginia Garner, Miss Katherine Rountree, Miss Lois Rogers, and Miss Elizabeth Cate.

Greetings from R. F. Burden

When Wesleyan girls attended Vineville Methodist Church for the first time this fall they were welcomed by Mr. R. F. Burden, chairman of the Board of Stewards. Mr. Burden is closely connected with Wesleyan as the husband of Minnie (Bass) Burden, president of the class of 1874 and daughter of one of Wesleyan's presidents. He said:

"As Chairman of the Official Board of the Vineville Methodist Church, I desire to extend cordial greetings to the president, the faculty and the student body of Wesleyan College and to express appreciation of the church and congregation for your presence with us today. You are thrice welcomed.

"Vineville is one of the oldest and most important developments of the City of Macon. It was here that many of the early settlers of Macon bought large estates, upon which they built colonial residences and made their homes. They were not rich as measured by the standard of wealth of today, but were well to do and lived in comparative comfort and affluence. They were liberal patrons of letters, education and the fine arts, and greatly fostered the old Georgia Female College, afterwards known as the Wesleyan Female College, and now known as Wesleyan College, in its earlier days of financial struggle.

"The first president of Wesleyan College lived in Vineville and ever since that time a number of the faculty of Wesleyan College have made their homes with us. Two professors of the college and one professor emeritus are now members of our church, and all of them are members of the Official Board.

"The Vineville Methodist Church was organized in 1846 with Rev. William J. Sassnet as the first pastor. He was succeeded by Rev. Walter R. Brannan who had achieved quite a reputation as a church builder. Under his ministry an attractive frame building, with ample seating capacity for the church and congregation was erected in 1848 on the lot now occupied by the Educational Building.

"It was my good fortune to pluck one of the fairest flowers of the Alumnae Association of Wesleyan College. That same first president of Wesleyan College, Bishop Geo. F. Pierce, united us in matrimony. For this service he left his humble home in Hancock County, appropriately known as "Sunshine" and came over by train to Macon. Due to a throat affection and the dust of travel, he lost his voice temporarily and we were married in a whisper. The ceremony, however, has stood the test of years. More than a year ago we celebrated the golden anniversary of our wedding and are still happy on the way.

"Most of our courting was done in the Philomathean Society Hall, which society is now known as the Phi Mu Sorority. We were married, however, in the Adelphean Society Hall, which is now known as the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

"In the old historical building of Wesleyan the society halls were located to the right and the left of the front door, and were used as Wesleyan parlors.

"Mulberry Street Methodist Church is justly recognized as the Mother of Methodism in Macon. The Vineville Church is her eldest daughter. In recent years it has grown so mature, amiable and well behaved, that we are wondering if the old mother church is not growing a trifle proud of her eldest daughter.

"We have a great church here, a notable preacher and pastor in charge who has well nigh traversed the globe in the interest of the Kingdom; a gifted teacher whose services are in extensive demand in our connectional Methodism. We have a great choir here, the best in the city, to lead in our devotions of song. We have a great Official Board here, about fifty in number. Many of them have achieved high rank in the business and professional interest of Macon. We have a great women here, many of them are members of the Alumnae of Wesleyan, or of some other A grade college. Most of them are engaged in the various activities of the church.

"Last but not least, I am now speaking expressly to the student body, we have a number of eligible young bachelors here. It is rumored that some of them are already beginning to look around.

"Your presence with us today gives us great joy and we trust that you will come again and as often as you may. If you elect, however, to worship elsewhere, we hope that you will at least let your shadow fall upon us as you pass our church door."

The Class of 1931

Of the 63 members of the class of '31 who graduated this year, 15 are studying, 25 are teaching, 6 are in other occupations, 3 are married.

STUDYING

Graduate Study—

Safford Harris is studying for the master's degree at Emory University. Safford visited Wesleyan on her way to Emory in the fall.

Helen Manry is studying at the University of Georgia for her master's. Lila Davidson, ex '31 who finished her work for the A.B. degree at the University of South Carolina, is also studying for her master's at the University of Georgia.

Maria Schmidt is studying at the University of Budapest.

Nell Trowbridge is working on her M.S. degree in public health in the medical college in Augusta.

Library School—

Elizabeth Anderson, formerly president of student government, is one of the students at the Atlanta Library School. She sent news notes about 16 Wesleyans for the Alumnae magazine, and this message from herself, "It's awful to be homesick. It is worse than being a freshman because nobody notices you."

Mildred Bennett is also at Library School. She visited Wesleyan on her way to Atlanta.

Margaret Hatcher is the third member of the class of '31 who is studying at the Atlanta Library School. She writes that in a class of 50, there are seven Wesleyan girls.

Business College—

Paula Belcher is studying at Georgia-Alabama Business College in Macon and living at home, 111 Lamar St.

Mary Elizabeth Dumas is taking a business course at her home, Talladega, Ala.

Izma Griffith is taking a business course in Atlanta. Her address is 958 Peachtree St.

Elizabeth Moate is in Atlanta, studying at the Atlanta Opportunity School. Her address is 1177 Oxford Rd. Elizabeth, Helen Cahill, and Josephine Lott live together.

Mary Ruth Senter is also taking a business course at the Opportunity School. She and Elizabeth Moate go to school together every morning. Mary Ruth writes: "I don't feel half as lonesome for Wesleyan as I might be, for we have a regular colony out here in Druid Hills. Elizabeth Woodward, Elizabeth Moate, Jo Lott, Helen Cahill, Tibba, Marmee, Rachel Johnson, Agnes Kelley and I all live in walking distance of each other."

Wesleyan Conservatory—

Elizabeth McNutt is studying music at Wesleyan Conservatory.

Scarritt College—

Johnnie Bond is completing her work at Scarritt College in Nashville, Tenn.

TEACHING

Mildred Barber, French and Latin in Arlington, Ga.

Christine Beavers, in the high school in Waverly Hall, Ga. She writes: "I miss Wesleyan all the time"

Margaret Boyd, history in Junior High School in Ft. Myers, Fla. She says, "I have about 180 'cherubs' in all. Call them 'cherubs' if you like! Marguerite Gunn has been visiting me for a month. Also Mary Banks visited me this summer."

Lottie Bragg, history and Latin in the high school in Mansfield, Ga. She says that she likes it fine, and is looking forward to coming back to Wesleyan for Thanksgiving.

Virginia Camden, gymnasium at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. She writes, "It is a wonderful place, and I am thrilled to death over being here. We have quite a large gym department. Professor Young is in charge, and there are seven women instructors. I do so miss being at Wesleyan though."

Margaret Cannon, in Abbeville, Ga., her home town.

Eugenia Coleman, in Mrs. Martin's kindergarten in Macon.

Eugenia was recently elected corresponding secretary of the Macon Town Committee of the Georgia Society of Colonial Dames.

Marion Jordan in grammar school in Macon.

Bessie Lester, in high school in Concord, Fla.

Wynelle Lewis, in Belwood Consolidated School near Calhoun, Ga. She is living at home.

Catherine Long, biology and history in Clarksville, Ga. She is basketball coach in the high school, also.

Mary Luke, history and French in the high school in Sylvania, Ga.

Elizabeth McClenny, in Alamo, Ga. She writes: "My work is interesting and I'm really liking the teaching profession. It was hard to keep my feet from carrying me straight back to Wesleyan this year as they have for the past four years. I am still hoping to be there some time during the year."

Mabel McLendon, high school in Smithville. She says she likes it fine, but misses Wesleyan very much.

Hazel Macon, science in Tifton, Ga. Hazel sent in some very interesting class notes for '31, with the message, "I can hardly wait for the next magazine to come out, for I enjoyed the last one so much. My work here is interesting and I like teaching. In Tifton there is an active Wesleyan Alumnae Club, of which I am pleased to be a member. At present this club is serving weekly luncheons to the Kiwanis Club in order to make money. I have found that whether in Wesleyan or out of it, 'Once a Wesleyan girl, always a Wesleyan girl!'"

Martha Mayo, biology in high school in Patterson, Ga.

Cornelia Merritt, high school English in Cuthbert, Ga. Cornelia writes: "I've joined the ranks of those noble souls who struggle to impart knowledge and what goes with it to the young bloods of our nation. And I'm thoroughly enjoying it! I'm just beginning, by the way, to fully understand how much one can love one's Alma Mater. Oh, to be back there!"

Emily Norton, history in Roberta, Ga. She has been made sponsor of the sophomore class in the high school.

Martha Pate, fifth and sixth grades and some high school work in Patterson, Ga. She writes, "Martha Mayo is also teaching here, and we have a fine school. There is a new school building."

Betty Lyn Prater, near Dalton, Ga., her home.

Mary Sheppard, supplementary teaching in the Savannah schools.

Wilhelmina Thompson, Latin and French in Pitts, Ga.

Mildred Turner, supply teaching in her home, Thomson, Ga.

Frances Warren, French and Latin in the Spalding County High School near Griffin.

Annette White, in West Riverside School in Jacksonville, Fla.

Elizabeth West, fifth grade in Clewiston, Fla. She says, "I do miss being at dear old Wesleyan."

OTHER OCCUPATIONS

Jean Awtrey is working in the State Health Laboratory in Atlanta.

Mary Broderick is a doctor's assistant in Savannah, and is taking a technician's course.

Marion Brown is working with her mother on their newspaper in Cordele.

Sarah Erwin is Girl Reserve Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in Macon. She is living at Wesleyan Conservatory. She writes: "Each reminder of the college brings pleasant memories, and I recognize the Alumnae Office as my medium of contact through which I secure these pleasures now."

Josephine Lott is with the Retail Credit Company in Atlanta.

Elizabeth Woodward is in the Publicity department of the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel. Her address is 1001 Oakdale Rd. She is also taking a business course in Atlanta. She writes, "I am homesick for Wesleyan and I'll be there Thanksgiving if not before."

MARRIED

Ina Brown is Mrs. J. D. Adams, and is living at 315 Bond St., Macon, Ga.

Roba Jackson is Mrs. Joseph Alford Wynn of Macon.

Martha McCowan is Mrs. A. L. Burnet, Jr., of Thomaston. She has been back to visit Wesleyan since school opened.

AT HOME

Annie Anderson is at home in Augusta, Ga.

Julia Bell's sister, Velma, has been quite ill, and Julia is at home for the present. She is doing some radio broadcasting and has been interested in Girl Reserve work in Augusta.

Martha Cooper writes: "I am going to teach expression at home to two or three children, and am organizing a troop of Girl Scouts, the first troop we have ever had here." Martha went to Yorktown, Va., as one of the sponsors from Georgia to the sesqui-centennial. Eugenia Coleman went with her as her maid of honor, and Martha's sister, Aurelia (Cooper) Evans, A.B. '24, as chaperone.

Katherine Dorsey writes that her address for the coming year will be Calhoun, Ga.

Carolyn Fryer is at home in Rome, Ga. She has been back to Wesleyan for a visit this fall, and in October underwent an operation for appendicitis from which she is recuperating.

Mary Jackson is in Albertville, Ala.

Rebecca Kirkland writes, "I shall probably keep house for several months, as my mother is ill. But with so many of 1931 in Atlanta, it is not lonely. About six of us are planning to come back Thanksgiving and I hope we won't be disappointed."

Betsy McConnell is in Talladega, Ala.

Caroline Parsons is in Hawkinsville. She enjoyed a trip abroad this summer.

Ruth Powell is at home in Villa Rica, Ga. She has spent much of her time in Atlanta in the early fall, attending pre-nuptial parties for her sister, Mary, who was married October 10.

Mary Margaret Pritchard writes, "I guess you might say I've joined the 'army of the unemployed.' I am working in the Red Cross Office here for the experience."

Frances Rice is at home in Elberton, Ga.

Marguerite Sherwood is, as she says, "learning the gentle art of housekeeping." She is living in Jacksonville, Fla., at 1531 Laura St.

Grace Teasley is at home in Hartwell.

Margaret Young is in Augusta.

Gifts to Library

Professor J. C. Hinton has given to the Wesleyan library some of his books which will be of especial interest to Wesleyan. They are:

Electric Magazine, Vol. 1, 2, 3—1852.

W. J. Scott—Biographic Etchings of Ministers and Laymen.

Robert Emory—History of Discipline, M. E. Church, 1845.

Karl Fink—Brief History of Mathematics.

Henry S. Williams—Story of Nineteenth Century Science.

W. P. Strickland—Life and Times of Francis Asbury.

Arthur Berry—Short History of Astronomy.

Bishop George F. Pierce—Sermons and Addresses.

Abel Stevens—Centenary of American Methodism—1866.

H. N. McTyiere—History of Methodism—1884.

At the same time Alleen (Poer) Hinton, A.B. '12, gave to Wesleyan the "Library of the World's Best Literature", a valuable reference tool for students.

Mrs. W. L. Pierce, mother of Polly (Pierce) Corn, A.B. '18, and Zula Pierce, A. B. '25, gave to the library a copy of Watson's Biblical and Theological Dictionary with the autograph of Lovick Pierce, father of the first president of Wesleyan, and great leader in the early days of Methodism.

Bessie (Reed) Napier, A.B. '62, has given a copy of Henry C. White's "Abraham Baldwin" to the library. Baldwin, first president of the University of Georgia, first of American state universities, was one of the founders of the republic. In the fly-leaf of the book is inscribed in Mrs. Napier's hand:

"Presented to Wesleyan Female College by Mrs. Bessie R. Napier, a former graduate and lover."

MR. W. D. LAMAR OF MACON

Benefactor of Wesleyan, who gave a handsome copy of Murillo's Madonna and Child to Wesleyan in honor of his wife, Dorothy (Blount) Lamar, first Wesleyan Alumnae trustee from Macon.

Everything and Anything

PORTRAIT OF MR. LAMAR

Miss Kate Edwards, of Marshallville, Ga., who did the white-point portrait of Mr. W. D. Lamar above, has won international fame as an artist. She specializes in white-point work, which she studied at the Chicago Art Institute and in Paris under Lucien Simon, and has done portraits of many famous persons, among them Bobby Jones, Walter de la Mare, Rose Macauley, and Harriet Keen Roberts. She is the winner of many prizes in exhibitions, notably the first place in the Atlanta Art Association exhibition in 1921.

Miss Edwards took lessons during her school days from Ida (Frederick) Wade, A. B. '80, who studied art at Wesleyan, where she graduated. Miss Edwards' mother was Josephine Miller of the class of 1866. Her aunt, Kate Edwards, who later married Captain Tom Harris, came to Wesleyan, too.

LINDBERGH'S VISIT CHAINGS

An article about a visit of the Lindberghs to General Chaing Kai-Shek and his wife, Mei-ling Soong appeared in Time for October 5. There is a foot-note which says:

"The Soong Dynasty", most potent Chinese family, includes the First Lady's brother, Finance Minister T. V. Soong, and her sister, Mme. H. H. Kung, wife of the 75th lineal descendant of Confucius. Split off from the Soong Dynasty by a family and political quarrel is Mei-Ling's sister, Mme. Sun Yat-sen, Communist-sympathizer, widow of the late, great Dr. Sun who founded the Chinese Republic."

Mrs. Kung is E-ling Soong, of the class of 1909, and Mrs. Sun Yat-sen is, of course, Chung-ling, A.B. 1913.

A. A. U. W. HAS OPEN MEETING

The Macon branch of the American Association of University Women held its first meeting of the year on October 21 in the Wesleyan parlors, Miss Eleanor Neill, president, in charge.

Macon women who are eligible for membership in the A. A. U. W. were invited, and about 100 guests were present for this meeting. Dr. John D. Freeman, professor of theology at Mercer University, was the main speaker, and fascinated his audience with his charming account of a trip he made to Scandinavia last summer. So delightful did his vacation sound and so inexpensively made via a European "freighter" that the senior class, who were present as associate members of the A. A. U. W., are already planning similar trips.

The musical part of the program was furnished by Dr. and Mrs. Raleigh M. Drake, on the piano and cello.

WESLEYAN PRESIDENT GUEST OF ALUMNA

Dr. D. R. Anderson was delightfully entertained in the home of Annie (Bates) Haden and her husband at the time of the Ecumenical Conference in Atlanta. A dinner party at the Haden home was one of the affairs given in his honor. Among the guests were Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth and Bishop Ainsworth, Anne (Trippe) Rambo, Bishop and Mrs. J. M. Moore, Dr. and Mrs. French, Miss Jessie Muse and Miss Emma Scott.

A sight-seeing trip over the city showed Dr. Anderson Atlanta's residential section and points of interest. Mrs. Haden invited any Randolph-Macon or Wesleyan girl to call and meet Dr. Anderson while he was her guest.

Mrs. George Knott, whose daughter, Frances, is a student at Wesleyan, entertained at a luncheon in honor of Dr. Anderson.

Nell (Brown) Coleman gave a tea for her group, No. 2 of the Atlanta Wesleyan alumnae, honoring Dr. Anderson and Floy (Oliver) Alden, new president of the Atlanta Club. Group 2 includes alumnae from classes 1900-1910.

RAY BALLARD GIVES RECITAL

The first of the Conservatory faculty recitals was given on October 27 by Ray Ballard, A.B. B.M. 1918. This was the fifth recital she has given since she became a member of the music faculty at Wesleyan.

After graduation from Wesleyan, Ray Ballard studied with Isador Phillippe of the Fontainebleau School of Music in Paris. She won the Paris Conservatoire. She has also studied with Thuel Burnham and Edwin Hughes in New York.

Her program was: Fantasie Opus 17, the sempre fantasie et appassionata, the poco piu adagio, and the adagio con trasporto movements by Schumann; Nocturne Opus 27, No. 1, by Chopin; Intermezzo, Opus 117, No. 2, by Brahms, and Rhapsodie Hongroise No. 8, by Liszt. The third group was composed of modern compositions of the impressionistic type. They were Hopak by Moussorsky; The Swan, by Palmgren; and Paraphrase on Die Flederman's Waltz, by Schutt.

MOTHER OF SOONGS DIES

Mrs. Soong, the mother of Chung-ling Soong (Mrs. Sun Yat Sen), A.B. 1913, Eling Soong (Mrs. H. H. Kung), A.B. 1909, and Mei-ling Soong (Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek), ex 1916, died suddenly at Tsingtao, a summer resort, in July.

Mrs. Soong's oldest son, T. V. Soong, the Minister of Finance, was very nearly killed when some of his political enemies coldly planned to assassinate him. Pistols and bombs were fired at him at the Shanghai North Station. He was miraculously saved, but his private secretary who was walking beside him was instantly killed. It was on the same afternoon of this tragedy that Mrs. Soong's death occurred.

Rev. Z. T. Kaung, her pastor, in a letter to Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth, paid the following tribute to Mrs. Soong:

"She was a wonderful Christian. The worldly honors and human glories did not change her in the least. She was a most consecrated woman and true to her Lord to the last day of her life. She exerted a wonderful Christian influence over her children. She had shown them what a Christian is and ought to be. Her death is a great loss to our church as well as to China."

PORTRAIT OF DR. QUILLIAN

Helena (Ogden) Campbell of New York, is doing a portrait of Dr. Quillian, to be presented to Wesleyan by the trustees. It is, she writes, nearing completion.

"I chose a large canvas," she says, "and the figure is life-size. I have put a red book in his hand—and the model that I am using for the book is the volume given me for a wedding present by Mrs. Sidney Lanier, 'Shakespeare and His Forerunners,' written by her husband. It is a handsome red book."

TRUSTEE DIES

Dr. George MacFerrin Eakes, former pastor of the Decatur First Methodist Church and trustee of Wesleyan, died in his study at St. John's Methodist Church, Augusta, in September. Dr. Eakes was widely known throughout the North Georgia, where he had held pastorates during his ministry. He is survived by his widow, one brother, Judge M. M. Eakes of Tulsa, Okla., and one sister, Mrs. Fannie H. Rogers of East Point, Ga.

Listen and Learn

The National Advisory Council on Radio in Education is sponsoring a program of radio lectures on economics and psychology, given by outstanding authorities in both fields, to be broadcast weekly on Saturday evenings over a nation-wide network of the National Broadcasting Company. These lectures will be:

ECONOMICS (8:30-8:45 E. S. T.)

November 21: Business Depressions and and Business Profits, by William F. Gehhart, First National Bank, St. Louis Missouri.

November 28: Agriculture in Relation to Economic Recovery, by Edwin G. Nourse, Director Institute of Economics, The Brookings Institution, Washington, D. C.

December 5: Wages in Relation to Economic Recovery, by Leo Wolman, Professor of Economics, Columbia University

December 12: Banking Policies in Relation to Recovery, by Jacob Hollander, Professor of Political Economy, Johns Hopkins University.

December 19: Adolescence: The Difficult Age, by Leta S. Hollingsworth, Professor of Education, Teachers' College, Columbia University.

The National Advisory Council on Radio in Education was organized in 1930 to further the art of radio broadcasting in American education. Membership is open to any individual sympathetic to the development of broadcasting in education.

Officers of the Council are: President, Robert A. Millikan; Vice-President, Livingston Farrand; Chairman of the Board, Norman H. Davis; Vice-Chairman of the Board, Walter Dill Scott; Treasurer, Ralph Hayes; Secretary, Meta Glass; Director, Levering Tyson.

Two "Listener's Notebooks" have been prepared for those interested in Psychology Today or Child Development. Each notebook will summarize the separate addresses and give supplementary information, pictures, diagrams, questions for discussion by study clubs and other groups, hints for study, and a list of books or magazine articles to read. They may be obtained from the University of Chicago Press at the following prices: single copies twenty-five cents; 10 copies for $1.50; 50 for $5.00 and 500 for $45.00.

1888 At The Ecumenical Conference

Lella Clark

"Are you going home now?" I asked Ida Mangham Coleman as we met while marketing the day before I went to the Ecumenical Conference.

"Come, I'll drive you up the hill." She and I catch a visit like that now and then. Our conversation is always about Wesleyan and our group. "I wish all of the group loved Wesleyan as do Annie (Laney) Watson, Belle (Stewart) Wooten and you. Wouldn't we have a wonderful group if that could come to pass?" I said as we parted in front of the Massee.

Ida is one of the most charming and enthusiastic of our Wesleyannes. If you are ever in need of a fascinating travel story or a thrilling account of the Passion Play, call on Ida. She will say, "I cannot do that," but she can, and Lillian (Roberts) Solomon, Ella (Anderson) Clark, Ruth Clark, Belle (Stewart) Wooten and many others who deeply appreciate her, can vouch for the truth of it.

I was glad to see Ida on that particular day because I was leaving for Atlanta and expected to see a number of our group while there. I rode up alone with Belle. We begged Irene Hendrix, Janie Hendrix, and Annie (Laney) Watson to go with us. As I expected, Belle talked Wesleyan classmates all the way. She had her class picture with her so Annie (Bates) Haden and I could tell her who four girls were that she couldn't make out.

Speaking of Annie Bates, we spent Friday night of the Conference with her in her beautiful home. To tell you the truth, I was bewildered by its loveliness, and as for Annie, she looked every inch a queen. Mr. Haden listened with patience to our chatter about the old days and the girls. We had so much fun over the picture. Annie declared that the one Belle said was she was not herself at all. "Why I never wore my hair like that. It was always tied with a ribbon low on my neck, and three large curls hung down my back!" "Yes," said Belle, "that is true, but this picture was taken just before we were graduated and all of us put our hair up." But Annie was never convinced.

We talked of the great questions of the Ecumenical Conference, "Peace," "Unity," and "Prohibition," but before we knew it we went back to Wesleyan's financial problems; of the simple life of our day as compared with the students of this day; of what a long way it was from sweet Annie Bates of 1888 to Mrs. Chas. Haden, Trustee of Wesleyan.

We recalled stories of Mamie Haygood, way out in California; of Annie Napier in the wilds of Idaho; of Ida Lowrey, Secretary of the Class; of Zula Ray in North Georgia; of Ruth Carr, May Carroll, Genie Small and of others who have passed on; of sweet Anna Harrold and Florence Bernd. Space in the magazine is all too small to tell of all the things—humorous and pathetic—we recalled of our dear Wesleyan friends.

Belle and I slept in a wonderful old four-poster bed at Annie's when we finally parted for the night. Every piece of furniture in that home (that is patterned after Mr. Haden's mother's home) has its history. "For years we had these carved posts hoping to find the head and foot board and sides to match and after years of patient searchings, we found them in an old shop in New Orleans; even then we waited for years to find a key to put it together," Annie told us.

Before we knew it, it was morning and time to go to the Conference when we parted, it seemed as if the years had turned back and we had been at the old college.

Belle's daughter, Frances, teaches at Decatur High School. The mother's eyes are not big enough to see her daughter. And no wonder, for Frances is charming and very good-looking. Belle resents it as much when I say Frances is like her Aunt Sadie in manner and face as Ruth does when folks say I look like Mother.

Saturday night Zula (Ray) Mitchell came out to see us with her daughter Ray and her son Pent. Ray has distinguished herself in Scouting. She lives in Atlanta at the Biltmore, and has supervision of Scout Work in six states. Zula's son teaches in Atlanta; the mother has every reason to be proud of her children. One married daughter has been quite ill all summer and she and the grandchildren have been with Zula. Belle brought out the picture and again we chatted about the Wesleyannes until the three reluctantly went away.

Thursday night we were seated on the back row of the lower floor in the crowded auditorium waiting for the service to begin. I looked around and standing close by was Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth. I called to her.

She kissed me and was gone to join Bishop at the front. If Mary were not so good and precious, she would have swelled with pride because of Bishop Ainsworth's activity at the Conference. He really was wonderful meeting every question of parliamentary law with his usual dignity and composure, helping to settle every delicate question that engaged the attention of this great gathering. Wesleyan girls were sprinkled about over that vast assembly—Edith Stetson, Cornelia Adams, Mary Hitch, Minnie Bass, Ella McAndrew, Nora Taylor, Slate Neal, Annie Bates, Elizabeth Bragg, Frances Wooten, Alice Burden, Eloise Guyton, Loulie Barnett, and many others that I did not see.

Sunday we went to church in the morning to Glenn Memorial at Emory. Slate Neal, one of my roommates at Wesleyan, and the finest that ever lived, had phoned me the night before to come out and sit by her. Slate pointed out all the Emory dignitaries to us and told us about some of the Emory students who were singing in the vested choir, some of them working their way through the University. When we were reading the responsive Scripture, above all the voices around me I heard one I knew belonged to none other than Bessie Houser. I glanced around and sure enough there she was with her husband, Sam Nunn, and on the other side of him stood Lula (Houser) Diskell. The latter has two boys at the University.

After the service Slate guided us to the room where Dr. W. F. Glenn's picture hangs. It is a speaking likeness and the work is truly that of a master artist. Close by this picture are book shelves built into the wall. My attention was attracted to them because I had been delving into old papers and books for the past weeks. There were Adam Clarke's Commentaries and a number of historical Wesley books. Conspicuous among them in the center on the second shelf was my father's "Wesley Memorial Volume."

We bade Slate "good-bye" and went out to have dinner with Elizabeth Bragg. Her husband is Dr. Sturdivant, and he is taking Dr. Baker's place while the latter spends a year in Europe. The first two years after marriage Dr. Sturdivant finished at Columbia then taught a year there. Elizabeth was assistant librarian. When the position was open at Emory they came. He has a promising future and she is a delightful hostess. Coming out of St. Mark's that afternoon someone said, "Look who's here!" It was Lois Rogers. She introduced me to her sister, Mrs. Tilly, who was Dorothy Rogers. Elizabeth Rogers, another sister, was at the Conference later on in the week. The Rogers sisters love Wesleyan and Wesleyan loves them. Annie Bates told us that Clifford Wilcox was with Jennie (Wilcox) Tufts. I hadn't seen Clifford in years so I phoned to her. But she had gone back to North Carolina. "But, Miss Lella," said Jennie, "I want to see you and I want you to see my home. I'll be there in about five minutes and bring you out." She did. The trees were gorgeous in their autumn coloring, and her garden was a dream. Jennie is noted for her garden—spends hours there. I went up to her room to see the pictures of her children. "This is sister's grandbaby, Amelia's girl." "Sister" is Minnie Wilcox. "I was so sorry that Minnie was not well enough to go to France this past summer, as a gold star mother," I said. "Yes" said Jennie, "she was disappointed, but her Wesleyan group wrote her such bright cheery letters that helped her at the time. It was lovely of them."

I knew about those letters. I met Emma Smith on her way to take the train. She was going to Nova Scotia for the summer. "I'm so glad I met you," said she. "Do me a favor. Phone to Marie and ask her for Minnie's address, put a special delivery stamp on it and mail it for me." In this way I knew of Minnie's disappointment.

Sunday afternoon I went out to Eleanor Solomon's to catch a glimpse of her and of Mr. Solomon. And it was a glimpse for Eleanor was hastening to the hospital. Little Eleanor had a sudden attack of appendicitis that morning and had been operated on. "So I'm coming home in a few days," said Mrs. Solomon, as we said hello and goodbye.

It would take too long to write of that marvelous conference. I have given only the side-lights of my trip to it. I was full of it, for I had been reveling for weeks in the first Ecumenical in London in 1881. I was quite a little girl when my father, a life long trustee of Wesleyan, was sent by the General Conference to represent the Southern Church in the interest of Wesley Monumental Church in Savannah. The Constitution printed four columns of a story I sent them. The headlines read, "The First Ecumenical Conference in London as told by a Georgia Woman." I hope my Wesleyan friends saw it.

Intercollegiate Alumni Extension Service Appoints Official Travel Bureau

The Intercollegiate Alumni Extension Service has designated the American Express Company as the Official Intercollegiate Alumni Travel Bureau. This arrangement in detail was presented to the American Alumni Council at the Atlanta Convention, where, it was cordially received on the basis that the alumni and undergraduates of the affiliated institutions could receive very tangible benefits from the special services which the American Express Company is able to render them in America and in foreign countries without adding in any way to the cost of travel.

"Our Directors realize that travel is generally accepted as being a broadening educational influence of particular appeal to both alumni and undergraduates," said Mr. Edward T. T. Williams, Comptroller of the Extension Service. "In a sense it is a form of adult education as this term is understood by the Alumni Secretary. It is true to such an extent that many of the Alumni Secretaries are interesting themselves in the travel habits of their alumni and are offering aid in various forms. It was our thought that in co-operating with the American Express Company we might be able to concentrate the travel arrangements of undergraduates and alumni in responsible hands, thereby eliminating the many haphazard and unnecessary travel offerings which have lately besieged the various college campuses.

Dedicated to Serving Collegians

"The Company, in addition to its service to individual patrons, has established a special department for its Intercollegiate Alumni work, directed by competent individuals. Dr. Clinton L. Babcock, formerly of Cornell University, who is in charge of the Tour and Cruise Department of the American Express, will supervise the work of this special department.

"Following our general procedure of enlarging the scope of our service, we propose to place at the American Express Offices in Europe and possibly in other parts of the world, a card index of the alumni of our participating colleges and universities who are residing in foreign cities. This will enable college men and women who are traveling abroad to find easy access to fellow alumni in the different towns which they may visit.

American Express Facilities

"Already the American Express staff have been notified of the working agreement between the Alumni Associations and the Company. Advice has been sent out to all offices in regard to the particular care which must be taken of both the men and women who avail themselves of this co-operative arrangement.

Planned Travel is Carefree Travel

"It has been found that whether one travels for pleasure or business, it is poor economy of time and even money to travel to a foreign land without first making advance reservations. An accepted plan at the present time is for the traveler to make an estimate of what can be spent for the journey, an outline of the places to be visited and the time to be spent at each place and submit this to a competent travel man. He in turn will present a detailed day by day itinerary showing costs and upon the approval of this, will furnish in advance every steamship ticket, railroad, sleeping car or aeroplane ticket required and reserve the necessary hotel accommodations.

"The American Express Company was chosen to act as the official Intercollegiate Travel Bureau because it was felt that they were in a position to render the greatest amount of extraordinary service to the greatest number of alumni organizations and their members.

Clubs

ATLANTA CLUB

New President

Floy (Oliver) Alden, A.B. '11, has been elected president of the Atlanta Wesleyan Club, succeeding Sue (Tanner) McKenzie, A.B., resigned.

Tea for Students

Lucy (Candler) Heinz of Group II, Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae, honored the students who were leaving for Wesleyan with an elaborate tea at her home, Rainbow Terrace, on Ponce de Leon Ave., in September.

Alumnae of all groups were invited, and Mrs. Heinz's beautiful home was thrown open from 4:30 to 6:30. The decorations and refreshments carried out the Wesleyan colors of lavender and purple with phlox, budleia, asters and altheas forming an artistic background for the crystal punch bowls and silver candle sticks.

The students were enthusiastic in their accounts of the tea on their return to college.

Receiving with Mrs. Heinz were Floy (Oliver) Alden, president of the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Club; Dessa (Hays) Asher, chairman of Group II; Lucy (Evans) Stephens, Margaret (Zattau) Roan, Margaret Richards, Mattie Sue (Taylor) Phillips, Katherine (Catchings) Ware, Emily (Melton) McNelly, Kathleen (Holder) Griffin, Louise (Daniel) Metcalf, Gertrude (Cotter) Woodward, Dorothy (Blackmon) Kersh, members of the Executive Committee.

Members of Group II assisting in receiving and serving were: Claire (Boufeuillet) Jones, Louise (Carey) Barnwell, Ethel (Hill) Walker, Hope Wilder, Georgia Wilder, Seton (Taylor) Purdon, Eloise Moon, Maybelle (Jones) Dewey, Berta Smith, Willie Davis, Annie May (Strickland) Lewis, Martha Drake (Weaver) Sutton, Marie (Ward) Sutton.

Florence (Watkins) Beckham and Nell (Brown) Coleman presided at the punch bowls, and Annie (Bates) Haden and Anne (Trippe) Rambo kept the guest book.

Luncheon

Sue (Tanner) McKenzie entertained the Executive Committee of the Atlanta Club at her home on Club Drive in August.

New Group Formed

A new group, composed of the students of the years 1928-31 was recently organized with Christine Glausier as temporary chairman.

AUGUSTA CLUB

The Wesleyan Alumnae of Augusta met at the home of Lucille Trowbridge, A.B. '30, and elected the following officers for the coming year: president, Lucille Trowbridge; vice-president, Jeannette Maxwell; secretary and treasurer, Eugenia Hutto. The club made plans for a tea for the high school seniors and junior college graduates.

GRIFFIN CLUB

The Wesleyan Club of Griffin met in September at the home of Lucy (Bryan) Johnson and Nellie Bryan. The house was prettily decorated in quantities of fall flowers.

Gwendolyn Williams, president, presided, and after roll call by the secretary, Elma (Grace) Newton, a short business session was held.

Annie Ruth Elder had charge of the program. There was a Wesleyan song by the club, a reading by little Alice Crowder, the club mascot, and readings by Annie Ruth Elder and Frances Warren. A social hour followed and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

COLUMBUS CLUB

The Columbus Club, under Helen (Owen) Forrester, has been very active this fall. They brought seven high school girls to Wesleyan on Stunt Night in October. Helen and Estelle (Jessup) Dillard drove over in their cars on Saturday afternoon, and all spent the night at the college and returned to Columbus Sunday.

The girls were met by the Student Columbus Club, with Sarah Jones as president. They went to the class "stunts," to the "Pharm" afterward, spent the night with their Columbus friends in the college dormitories, and even made tentative selections of the rooms they would like to have some day.

The high school girls who came were:

Helen Pafford, Octavia Hopkins, Julie Griffith, Mildred Edge, Lila Norman, Laverne Moore, and Georgia Jessup. Caroline Owen, A.B. '30, came with them also, and Brownie Buck, a Columbus high school girl, visited Sue Mansfield for that same week-end.

Just before the Wesleyan students from Columbus left home in September, each received a gift from the Columbus Alumnae Club. They were traveling cases for wash cloth, soap, etc., each in a different color and each tied with the class colors of the student who received it.

TERRELL COUNTY

The autumn meeting of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Terrell County was held at the home of Mary (Pickett) Pickett, 1895, in September. The president, Gladys (Dismuke) Newman, 1922, was in charge and Alice Mae (Perry) Collier, 1915, acted as secretary. The following committees were appointed: Finance, May Belle (Kendrick) Smith, 1903, Walter (Tilley) Pierce, 1912, Ella (Christie) Melton, 1903; committee to contribute shrubbery to Wesleyan Conservatory, Mary (Pickett) Pickett, 1895, Daisy (Wilcox) McLain, 1906, and Mary (Tilley) Dunn, 1915.

The program consisted of a study of the New Wesleyan, its equipment, personnel, standing, and present needs. Special good wishes were extended to Elizabeth Stevens, who entered the Freshman class at Wesleyan this fall.

After adjournment the hostess served ice cream and cake.

TIFTON

The Tifton Wesleyan Club sent a check to the Alumnae House Fund of $26.00, made by serving luncheon to the Kiwanis Club.

Marion (Padrick) Woodward, president of the club, wrote: "It was a pleasure to do it for Wesleyan. We are today sending to Miss Carnes for the library a book, 'Saturday Night Sketches' by J. L. Herring, a Tifton man, as a gift from our club."

The Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Tifton also entertained the senior class of the Tifton High School in the spring with a beautiful tea at the Coastal Plain Experiment Station. In the receiving line were the officers of the club: Marion (Padrick) Woodward, Eula (Miller) Massey, Rosalie Mitchell, and Katherine Harman.

Those assisting in entertaining were Margaret (Toney) Bowen, Martha (Bedgood) Wilson, Sankie (Chiles) Holder, Mary B. (Thurman) Gaulding, Ruth (Vickers) Fulwood, Robertine (Belcher) Carmichael, Vo Hammie (Pharr) Carr, Alice (Kent) Hodges, Clara (Stedman) Puckett, and Marie (Patten) Smith.

Harriet Evans introduced the guests to the receiving line.

It was interesting that all of those who assisted the hostesses in serving were daughters of alumnae. They were Harriett Massey, daughter of Eula (Miller) Massey, Frances and Charlotte Walton, daughters of Jessie (Hollingsworth) Walton, Mary Porter Short, daughter of Linda (Hollingsworth) Short, Eleanor Kelley, daughter of Mabel (McCalla) Kelley, Virginia Bryan, daughter of Lena (Baker) Bryan, Dolly Mitchell, daughter of Lillian (Short) Mitchell, and Clara Puckett, daughter of Clara (Stedman) Puckett.

Mrs. John Padrick, Jessie (Hollingsworth) Walton, and Harriet (Goodman) Harman also served.

LAKELAND, FLORIDA

The Lakeland, Florida, Wesleyan Club met in October and elected officers for the coming year. There are twenty-five members of this club.

Imelda Boger, A.B. '30, was elected president to succeed Catherine Craig, A.B. '24. Lillie (Rowan) Hutchinson, 1909, is vice-president and Sara Jenkins, '26, secretary and treasurer. The meeting was held at the home of Mary Kate (Williams) Rickerson, '22, who served refreshments in the Wesleyan colors.

ENGAGEMENTS

Holmes-Graves

Frances Holmes, ex '31, to Victor Morse Graves of Barnesville in the late winter.

Key-Butler

Ruth Key, sophomore, to Monroe Butler of Atlanta, November 11.

In Memoriam

MARY (ALLISON) LAWRENCE 1864

Mary (Allison) Lawrence ex '64, died at the home of her son-in-law in Oakville, Ontario, October 21. She was born in Quincy, Fla., the daughter of a former governor of the state. She is survived by one son, Thomas.

MILDRED COBB 1867

Mildred Cobb, a student at Wesleyan in 1867, died at the home of her niece, Ida Mallary (Cobb) Floyd, A.B. '20, in Clayton, Ga., in August. She was the daughter of Major John B. Cobb and Mary Athena Jackson Cobb, and made her home for many years in Macon with her brother, the late J. J. Cobb, founder and superintendent of the Centenary Methodist Church.

For a period of about 40 years, she taught in Mulberry St. Methodist Sunday school, and also, at a different time of day, was superintendent of the primary department at Centenary. Seven years ago she went to Japan with her sister, Mrs. J. J. Cobb, and her niece and nephew to assist them in their work. She had only recently returned with them from Japan, landing on July 21 and coming to Clayton. She was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage on August 3, from which she never rallied.

She was the niece of General Howell and General T. R. R. Cobb, Judge James Jackson, chief justice of Georgia, and a great granddaughter of Governor James Jackson.

MINNIE (GRESHAM) MACHEN 1865

Minnie (Gresham) Machen, who graduated with honors in 1865, died at her home in Baltimore, Md., on October 13. She was 82 years old, and had been prominent in social affairs. Her husband, Arthur W. Machen, Sr., was a leader of the Maryland bar, and died 16 years ago. Her sons, Arthur W. Machen, Jr., a prominent member of the Maryland bar, the Rev. J. Gresham Machen, professor of New Testament language and literature, Westminster Theological Seminary, and Thomas G. Machen, Baltimore architect, survive.

She was well known as a student of the Bible and of poetry. She enjoyed more than a local reputation as a Browning authority, having written and published about 25 years ago, "The Bible in Browning."

A very charming article on "The Faculty of 1865" written by her, appeared in the August number of The Wesleyan Alumnae.

Mrs. Machen's cousin, Kate (Ross) Peters, A.B. 1873, says of her: "Her passing was peaceful, her faith in God unfaltering. Her loved ones were all with her, and she relives her life in the sons who so loved and honored her. They do not sorrow as those having no hope, but only those who knew and loved dear Minnie know the loss, not only to the family, but to all her friends."

LILLIAN (PALMER) BLACKBURN 1885

Lillian (Palmer) Blackburn, ex '85, died in September at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Baker in Macon, where she had made her home for three years. She is survived by one son, Walter Palmer Blackburn of Los Angeles, Calif., and three brothers.

Mrs. Blackburn was the only daughter of the late Col. L. D. Palmer and Mary Sims Palmer of Dalton and Nashville, Tenn. Her father was a trustee of Emory college and for many years manager of the Methodist Publishing House in Nashville, Tenn.

JESSIE (SMITH) LEVIE

Jessie (Smith) Levie, died at her home in Kwangju, Korea, in September, according to a cable received by relatives from her husband, Dr. Kellum Levie. She was only 35 years old, the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Forehand of Montezuma, by whom she was reared, her mother having died when she was two weeks old.

Dr. Levie practiced dentistry in Georgia, and volunteered as a dental missionary through the Presbyterian church. The family have lived for some years in Korea, and have five children.

The following were on the senior class roll also, though they did not complete the regular course:

Adelia Adams.

Lula Alexander.

Loula Blalock.

Gertrude Everett.

Floyd Hallis.

Carrie Holmes.

Carrie Howes.

And three new girls joined the class during the senior year, but did not complete the entire course. They were:

Jennie Johnson.

Fannie Lockward.

Mattie Ross.

1873

Class Secretary: Mrs. Thomas Peters (Kate Ross).

Kate (Ross) Peters sends in her contribution for the Loyalty Fund from Atlanta this year. She says she is afflicted with rheumatism, but is still interested in Wesleyan.

1875

Class Secretary: Mrs. L. J. Bradley (Lilly Johnson), Cartersville, Ga.

Charles Ballard Breaux, Jr., son of Mil-dred (Payne) Breaux, ex '23, and great grandson of Cecelia (Willingham) Payne, visited his grandparents in Macon recently.

1876

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. G. Solomon (Lillian Roberts), 107 Buford Place, Macon, Ga.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Washington Dessau (Fannie Gilmer), Forsyth Rd., Macon, Ga. May Bonner is at 369 First Street, Macon.

Fannie (Gilmer) Dessau had the pleasure of a visit to Mont Eagle, Tennessee, and also to the wonderful Scarritt Training School in Nashville where her grand-daughter, Geraldine Wheeler, '29, was studying for the summer. At Monteagle she was introduced to the Assembly as a former president of the ladies' association of the Assembly, she having been nominated for that honor by Mrs. J. B. Cobb who had taught her at Wesleyan. One of Fannie's many splendid deeds came to light recently in Rev. Bascom Anthony's history of the Vineville Methodist church; she was the only individual to contribute a thousand dollar gift to the first building of the church.

Carrie (Johnson) Duncan is in Macon at present. She will soon return to her daughter Mrs. Rodney Cohen in Augusta. Dr. Mary McKay after an illness of two months, had a trip by water to Boston where she visited friends. Pearl O'Daniel is now at the Laurine Apartments on Orange Street.

Several of our class have been ill for quite a while. Mary Redding has been recuperating this summer in Hendersonville and is now with her sister, Mrs. J. R. Voorhees, in Morristown, N. J.

Annie (Tucker) Muse and her granddaughter Mary Muse made a tour of Florida this past summer and stopped a night and day with Georgia (Stroberg) Ingraham. Georgia writes: "She and Mary were with me and we surely had a nice time. They arrived about 4 P. M., called me up and I instructed them how to come out to my home, Annie and I had a good time talking. You know she went to school to my father-in-law and knew my husband before ever I knew any of them. Then we went to college together and not until 1928 at our reunion did she know who I married and did I know her friendship with the Ingrahams. Wasn't that funny? This year, in April, my son who is on the Baptist Sunday School Board in Nashville, was in Albany holding a Sunday School campaign and Annie met him and heard him make a talk. Others heard him and asked if he was Frank Ingraham's son.

"The next morning of Annie's visit we took a ride over part of Jacksonville, had luncheon down town, and then they left me for St. Augustine. I had a letter from her saying they had a delightful trip. I will be delighted for any of my classmates passing through Jacksonville to ring me and stop to see me.

"This is the first summer in years that I have not gone to Hendersonville, and just think—this year Blossom went to Hendersonville and visited Etta McKay near my sister's home. They wrote me that Willie (Woodfin) Carson was also in Hendersonville and visited Blossom at Etta's. Louise Campbell was also there.

"I spent two weeks in Macon after commencement and then three weeks in Savannah. Then I went to Orlando for a weekend with my daughter Anne, and down to the Bok Tower, then to Savannah again to visit a son. Oh, isn't it fine to see our classmates after so many years? It must be grand for you who live in Macon to work in clubs together."

1879

Class Secretary: Mrs. Cuyler King (Henrietta Nisbet), Orange St., Macon Ga, 1880

Class Secretary: Mrs. Alfred Truitt (Ida Price), 1027 Columbia Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

1881

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. W. Daves (Annie Hopkins), Box 1006, Orlando, Fla.

Class Secretary: Mrs. C. E. Damour (Laura Jones), 202 High St., Macon, Ga.

Lillian (Dunlap) Stevens has returned from a most interesting trip to Europe. Gussie (Jones) Winn spent the summer delightfully, visiting her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Winn (Frances Faust) in Cincinnati, Ohio. Josephine (Lightfoot) Jones has been very happily engaged in preparations for the wedding of her granddaughter Rose Jones, daughter of Rose (Crutchfield) Jones 1905, which occurred November 4 at her house, 140 Georgia Avenue. The groom is Robert Kingman, a prominent young business man of Macon. Josephine came into our class in the middle of our junior year, from a select boarding school in Washington, D. C. Remember how she shamed all of us with her perfect recitations?

Except for a short trip to Atlanta to be with my son George on his forty-first birthday, I have been at home all summer enjoying my flowers. Wish you could see my garden now with its wealth of bloom—gorgeous dahlias, blue salvia, pink cosmos and coral vine climbing trees, fences and even festooning the house with its graceful pink sprays. Chrysanthemums are late, but innumerable buds give promise of a riot of color before winter comes.

Laura (Jones) Damour, Class Secretary

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. D. Lamar, Dorothy (Blount), 238 Georgia Ave., Macon, Ga.

Dorothy (Blount) Lamar, past president of the Georgia United Daughters of the Confederacy was one of the main speakers at the convention of the organization held in Dublin in October. Her subject was When Time Shall Have Softened Passion and Prejudice.

1884

Class Secretary: Mattie Rogers, 75 College St., Macon, Ga.

1885

Effie (Barden) Burke has a little granddaughter, born in October to her daughter, Mrs. William Burdette, in Lima, Peru. Effie is visiting her daughter in Peru.

1886

Class Secretary: M. Kate Neal, 1364 Emory Rd., Atlanta, Ga.

Lynn Branham and her sister, Mattie (Branham) Moore, 1875, have recently enjoyed a visit to Georgia's distinguished writer, Mrs. Corra Harris, at her home "In the Valley" near Rydal, Ga. Mrs. Harris formerly lived in Oxford and is a long time friend of this beloved family.

Several 1886 alumnae attended the lovely Wesleyan tea given in September at the home of Lucy (Candler) Heinz for the girls attending Wesleyan in 1931-2. We were joyed to meet these fine girls, and to know that they were to have the cultural privileges of our greater Wesleyan during the next several years.

Annie Belle (Cox) Lanier is treasuring a visit from her grandson and granddaughter accompanied by their mother, Rita (Lanier) Fussell, A. B. '12, of New Brockton, Ala. W. D. Lanier, the fine young man who represents Richmond County in the Georgia Legislature, is Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lanier's youngest son.

Annie (Mix) Bowdre has about recovered from her knee injury, and has spent the summer in the Tennessee mountains, visiting her uncle near Chattanooga.

Lura Simmons, our good Latin and history student, is using this knowledge to good advantage when she coaches the boys and girls for the Atlanta schools.

After the Wesleyan Commencement in 1886 Anne Allen, Lynn Branham, Annie Hyer, Mamie Holtzclaw, Stella Duncan, and Kate Neal went together to Oxford to attend the Emory 1886 Commencement.

Anne, Mamie, and Stella married alumni of Emory 1886.

Annie (Hyer) Coleman, Lynn and Kate were not so fortunate, but the 1886 Emory Alumni remembered us well enough in June, 1931, to invite us to attend with their wives, their barbecue and class reunion at Oxford, Ga. We all accepted the invitation, and these old Emory boys and old Wesleyan girls met under the trees, on Emory's historic campus, and reminisced about our college days as though Anno Domini 1886 was just a little while ago.

When the boys gathered around their famous Class Tree for the old class song, Dr. Alwyn Smith of La Grange, Ga. was among those present. He is a brother of Dr. Leon Smith of Wesleyan, and a nephew of our beloved Dr. Cosby Smith.

Friendship and School Days seemed a very precious thing when Dr. Alwyn Smith sang there for us F. E. Weatherly's—

"Friend O' Mine"

When you are happy, friend o' mine,
And all your skies are blue,
Tell me your luck your fortune fine
And let me laugh with you.
Tell me the hopes that spur you on,
The deeds you mean to do
The gold you've struck, the fame you've won,
And yet me joy—with you!
When you are sad and heart a cold
And all your skies are dark,
Tell me the dreams that mocked your hold,
The shafts that missed the mark
Am I not yours for weal or woe?
How else can friends prove true?
Tell me what breaks and brings you low,
And let me stand with you.
So when the night falls tremulous
When the last lamp burns low,
And one of us or both of us
The long, one road must go,—
Look with your dear old eyes in mine,
Give me a hand shake true;

Whatever fate our souls await,
Let me be there—with you.

Does this not voice your feelings, too—one to the other—my classmates? And will you not write me sometimes, so I can tell the others about you?

M. Kate Neal, Class Secretary.

1887

Class Secretary: Mrs. E. A. Douglas (Jennie Martin), Sanford, Fla.

1888

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. F. Stone (Ida Lowrey), Blakely, Ga.

Belle (Robinson) Leigh and her mother have recently had a delightful visit to Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Butler in Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. Butler formerly Kate Robinson, ex 1905, of Atlanta.

For the gratification of classmates we quote from the daily press: "National headquarters of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, Kansas City, Mo., announces the election of Miss Jessie Hopkins as educational director for the Pi Beta Chapter recently installed at the East Lake Country Club in Atlanta. Miss Hopkins is widely known as a contributor to and critic of current publications. Her influence in the world of literature and art is evidenced by the responsible positions she has held. She has served as Organizer, Public Library, Wilmington, N. C.; assistant librarian, Public Library, Montgomery, Ala.; cataloguer, University of Georgia Library; librarian, Tompkins Square Branch, New York City; A. L. A. War Service, New York City; librarian, Carnegie Library of Atlanta, and President of the Georgia Library Association". The honorary degree of doctor of letters was conferred on her by the University of Georgia, but first and foremost Jessie was graduated from Wesleyan, the "Oldest and Best", then all these things were added unto her!

Mamie (Haygood) Ardis and her husband take a cottage at Avalon, Catalina Island, for the month of August, and dignified judges, honorable jurors and erudite lawyers have a vacation and "enjoy romping over the golf links". The whole Ardis family, children, grandchildren and in-laws take turns in going over to the Island, and the month is all too short. Mamie's daughter, Ruth Ardis, (Mrs. George H. Clark, Long Beach, Cal.) gained a coveted distinction this summer on the first day she ever fished, by capturing after a 30-minute struggle, a Marlin swordfish which tipped the beam at 144 pounds. She was the fourth woman to land a swordfish this season, a prize coveted by all the Catalina fishermen, and picture of her with her catch was shown in the Long Beach Press-Telegram. To my inland eyes that fish looked as long from stem to stern as the fish that swallowed Jonah, and if any fisherman attempts a boast of superiority in the sport, just a glimpse of that picture will be sufficient to quiet him!

Ida (Lowrey) Stone, Class Secretary

Ida (Lowrey) Stone's daughter, Polly, formerly Alumnae Secretary of Agnes Scott College, now in the library at Yale University, enjoyed interesting week-end vacations during the summer, on one of these scurrying over five states with two Agnes Scott friends.

Did you notice the picture of the senior class of 1888 on page 150? Belle (Stewart) Wooten sent it, with this message:

"1888 Was the largest' graduating class up to that time.

"Girls of '88, do you recognize yourselves? I hope you will be able to fit your names to the faces better than Annie Bates did some days ago when I was in her home and carried the picture along—she didn't even recognize herself! Annie said, "Why Belle I never wore my hair like that in all my life." My reply was: you certainly did and so did most of us, can't you see that the pompador was all the style? Lella Clark, Zula Ray and Ella McAndrew agreed with me that the girl sitting about middle way of second row is the present Mrs. Charles J. Haden, our honored trustee. You have her as she is today in the August Magazine and here she is as we knew her back in the eighties. This photograph was made at an unfortunate hour, the noon hour when some of our town girls had gone home for dinner—dinner mind you, no lunch in the good old days. Some of the boarders were away too, but we are a goodly number for all that."

We want to hear from some of the girls who have kept silent so long. I am hoping you will be so thrilled over seeing yourselves again as you were, that you will have a sudden inspiration to write me an account of some of your experiences during the years.

Lovingly and faithfully,

Belle (Stewart) Wooten.

1889

Class Secretary: Mrs. George Watson (Annie Lou Laney), 319 Duncan Ave., Macon, Ga.

Bettie (Sessions) Hannah writes: "I am not even the 'Prodigal Son' for I have not returned. Each time I have made an effort to attend the alumnae meetings but have been disappointed.

"I enjoy the 'Wesleyan Alumnae', the last number especially, since my dear friend, Annie (Bates) Haden, is a Trustee. Her picture adorns the page as she adorns the position of honor".

Ina (Kelly) Petrie, sends a nice contribution to the Loyalty Fund and says: "Next winter I plan to spend several months in Porto Rico with my son who teaches English literature in the University at Rio Piedras, seven miles from San Juan." Her address is 501 West 121 Street, New York, N. Y.

Any of you who write to Annie (Napier) Edwards will be rewarded with a bright and interesting answer. She writes of her home in Edwardsburg, Idaho: "My cabin has about eleven rooms; in the summer it is delightful, but it is difficult to heat when it goes thirty below zero. Napier has a lovely cabin, very compact and easy to heat so each summer we plan to spend the winter with him but the fall comes, winter settles down and we find ourselves beside our own fireside and Napier with us. I rarely hear from any of the old girls, now and then a letter, and I reply at once. When women reach our age they need out of doors to call them or diversified interests such as you have in your children and grandchildren. Twenty years ago I was doomed by two doctors but here I am weighing over one hundred and sixty pounds and rarely a sick day so it must be the life here and these two men of my family who lighten the burden as much as possible."

Annie Lou (Laney) Watson, Class Secretary

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. P. Coleman (Ida Mangham), Masee Apts., Macon, Ga.

Mamey Felton (Hatcher) Grady spent the summer and early fall in Paris.

Ida (Mangham) Coleman is spending the winter in southern California with a friend, and will visit places of interest.

Your secretary would like to call the roll of class 1890, and receive a message from each member before the Magazine goes to press next time. The girls living in Macon are outstanding in educational, civic, and social life, reflecting great credit on their Alma Mater. These are Sally May Akin, Agnes Barden, Alice (Barfield) Herring, Carrie (Harris) Hazelhurst, and Mamie (Hatcher) Grady. In Atlanta Ella (Parker) Leonard is a highly esteemed teacher at Murphy Junior High School. Lila May Chapman's library work in Birmingham is well known to all her friends and to the South.

Leila May (Sasnett) McBride, with her daughter, is living in New York City. Hattie (Varnedoe) Saussy is one of the prominent leaders in Savannah and is greatly beloved by all who know her. Lillian (McDonell) McKay lives in Tampa. She is as exquisitely dainty and charming as she was at Wesleyan—the years have dealt gently with Lil.

Vinita (Tate) Anderson and her husband have just announced the marriage of their daughter, Vinita Tate Anderson, to James Hamilton Therrell, the wedding having taken place October 28, at Glenn Memorial Church, Emory University. The bride is a niece of Col. Sam Tate, trustee and benefactor of Wesleyan.

Willie (Vandiver) Whitfield of Montgomery is a great traveler, and has written a book on her travels. I hope the Wesleyan Library has a copy.

During August, it was my pleasure to have a visit from Richmond Farrot, his lovely young wife, and baby daughter Marie. Richmond's mother was the late Mamie Richmond whose home was Savannah when she attended Wesleyan. She married H. L. Farrot of New Orleans; left two sons, Richmond whose home is now Atlanta, and Alain who lives in New Orleans. Baby Marie is named for her grandmother, and I hope will be a Wesleyan student.

Classmates whose address I do not know will greatly oblige me, provided they are interested, by letting me hear from them.

Ida (Mangham) Coleman, Secretary

Class Secretary: Mrs W. N. Ainsworth (Mary Nicholson), 2238 Highland Ave., Birmingham, Ala.

Adela (Barkesdale) Ware's daughter, Adela, was married in the early fall to George Dawson McDaniel of New York City. The bride attended the Georgia State College for Women in Milledgeville, and later taught in Miami, Fla., and in a private school in New York city. The groom has a position with the Standard Oil Company in N. Y.

Ella (Gerdine) Jordan was in Macon recently attending a meeting of the Woman's Club of the Sixth District. Ella is state executive secretary. She is also a valued member of the Atlanta Alumnae Club.

Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth, is always with Wesleyan's interest at heart, is making plans for the fall meeting of the Birmingham Alumnae Club, of which she is president. She went with Bishop Ainsworth to the Ecumenical Conference in Atlanta in October.

Mamie (Wood) Williams of Marietta, civic and temperance leader, was re-elected president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Georgia at the annual convention held in Columbus in October.

Class Secretary: Mrs. C. C. Jarrell (Margaret Moore), 1079 Oxford Rd., Atlanta, Ga.

At the time of the dismantling of Cynthia Holliday Hall at Mercer in September, Maude Hill, a niece of its former owner, Mrs. R. M. Seymour, recalled some interesting stories of the old home. An article in the Telegraph at the time tells of a brilliant social function that was in progress when Gen. J. H. Wilson, Union officer, moved his troops into Macon to occupy the city during the War Between the States. Promenading about the broad veranda were erect Confederate soldiers and beautiful Macon belles in billowing dresses. The gay company was startled by the news; someone suggested hiding the table silver.

Gertrude (Roberts) Anderson's son, Robert Lanier Anderson, Jr., was married in October to Miss Helen Waterbury of Whitesboro, N. Y. The groom's best man was his brother, Charles R. Anderson.

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. O. Jones (Loula Evans), Newnan, Ga.

Mr. W. D. Anderson, trustee of Wesleyan and husband of Linda (McKinney) Anderson was elected a member of the executive committee of the Cotton-textile Institute at a meeting of the board of directors of the institute held in New York in October.

Bessie (Munroe) Davidson is spending the winter at 1947 N. Decatur Rd., Atlanta, with her sister, Jessie (Munroe) Dickey, 1887.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Lucy K. Johnson (Lucy Keen), 15 Woodbine Rd., Irvington, N. Y.

Lucy (Keen) Johnson, her daughter, Marion Dean Johnson, A. B., '30, her son Douglas and his family, are ardent workers in St. Paul Methodist Church in Irvington, N. Y. They must have been much needed, for they have all been given much to do in the various departments of the church. They have made some warm friends in that cold country, and enjoyed having Miss Eleanor Neill of the Wesleyan faculty as a guest in their home this summer.

Clara (Mumford) Harwell's only daughter Clara, was married in October to Mr. Usher Winslett, also of Macon. Among the many pre-nuptial parties was that of May (Mumford) Lowe and her daughter, Eugenia (Lowe) Spivey; of Ruth (Mumford) Peavy; of Linda (McKinney) Anderson and Linda (Anderson) Lane, of Clara (Johnson) Walker; of Minnie (Bass) Burden; of Hazel (Hamilton) Rogers; of Mary (Cooper) Little and Elizabeth (Little) Baker—"Liz" being the maid-of-honor and the bride's only attendant.

Mr. Winslett is tax collector of Bibb county. After the wedding Clara motored to North Carolina with her son John for a visit with him; he lives in Charlotte as representative of the Bibb Manufacturing Co.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Harry Ainsworth (Marian Hayes), Thomasville, Ga.

Leila (Hart) Warlick is the sympathetic friend who presides at her brother's funeral parlors in Macon.

The secretary of 1895 will be glad to receive news from any member of the class.

We sympathize with Mae (Murphy) Johnson of Waycross in the sad loss of her daughter and infant granddaughter. Mae is comforted by having her little grandson with her.

Norwood Robson, the daughter of Mary (Wimberly) Robson, was married to Allen Dennis on October 14 at the Vineville Presbyterian Church.

1896

Class Secretary: Mrs. Phil Lanier (Anna Wooten), West Point, Ga.

Class Secretary: Mrs. S. T. Coleman (Edith Stetson), 317 College St., Macon, Ga.

Jamie (Frederick) McKenzie attended the national U. D. C. convention in Jacksonville where she was a candidate for president general of the U. D. C. Newspapers said of her "Mrs. McKenzie has held a number of important offices, being past president of the Georgia division, U. D. C., past vice-president general, past recording secretary of the Georgia division, U. D. C., of the D. A. R., and of the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs.

'97's long lost Round Robin letter has begun its rounds again and has brought a delightful letter from Eva (Monk) Bryan who is now living in Olney, Texas at 20 W. 2nd St. She writes:

You can never know, Edith, how very much I've appreciated your every effort to locate me and the urgent invitations to attend the reunion of our class. How I do wish that I could have attended the wonderful re-union and renewed the friendships of dear old Wesleyan. And I've never enjoyed anything more than the Round Robin that reached me two days ago direct from that dear Susie Martin.

My husband, Gid J. Bryan, is a Methodist preacher and is at present pastor in this delightful town of Olney. We are most happy in our work. Our home has been blessed with two precious boys, the older one, dying in infancy. He would be twenty-four, if living. The younger one, Alonzo Monk Bryan, is seventeen and is a constant source of joy and pleasure. He is in his first year at College.

If I allow myself to become the least reminiscent I would write you quite an epistle, but for your sake, I'll desist. But I am most happy to renew our friendship, after all these years of separation. My mother died in 1924 and my father in 1928, you may possibly remember them. I often wish that I might have a trip to Macon, but it is a "long, long way" from Olney.

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. G. Stephens (Lucy Evans), 615 Linwood Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

A charming picture of Lucy (Evans) Stephens' daughter, Emma, appeared in the Atlanta Journal as she was leaving for Wesleyan in September. Lucy's son, Robert, went to the University of Georgia this year.

1900

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. E. Hays (Louese Frederick), Montezuma, Ga.

1901

Class Secretary: Mrs. Oscar Crittenden (Helen Land), Shellman, Ga.

1902

Class Secretary: Mrs. F. M. Mullino (Mary Addie (Murph) Montezuma, Ga.

Della (Manning) Green's son, J. Howell Green, Jr., was married August 8 to Miss Helen Ross Causey of Decatur. Della's daughter, Mary, was bridesmaid.

Anne E. (Williams) Pearce writes, "I know you are all enjoying Dr. Anderson. My daughter was at Randolph-Macon College with him two years."

1903

Class Secretary: Lucy Lester, 658 Pensacola St., Tallahassee, Fla.

Class Secretary: Mrs. T. L. Ross (Helen Roberts), 629 Orange St., Macon, Ga.

Louise (Fisher) Pope is now in the library of Wesleyan University in Connecticut. She writes: "Perhaps you have been reading about the very elaborate celebration upon the centennial of this Wesleyan. They have made me proud to be on this college library staff and a member of the church that founded it, though the college is now an independent institution with 600 students and $5,000,000 endowment. One reason I appreciate its traditions so much is because of their similarity to my Macon Wesleyan. May she grow with equal success!"

Roberta Smith, who visited Wesleyan in October, is special representative of the J. C. Winston Co., publishers of the loose-leaf encyclopedia. (She is the only woman representative sent out by the company, and will have Florida as her field this winter.) She has had a most interesting time since 1924 in California, part of the time studying at the University of California, for one year teaching in a picturesque old Spanish town, San Luis Obispo, and several summers teaching in the model school of the University department of Education in Berkley. She was the guest of Louise Lin, her classmate, while at Wesleyan.

Laurie (Wynn) Garner's daughter, Henrietta, received a first prize and two second prizes at the Georgia State Exposition in Macon for her paintings. Henrietta takes art from Miss Molly Mason, formerly teacher of art at Wesleyan.

Class Secretary: Margie Burks, West Tennessee, 3613 Young St., Memphis, Tenn.

Rose (Crutchfield) Jones' daughter, Rose, was entertained by a host of friends before her marriage to Robert Kingman of Macon in November. Among those who entertained for her were: Leila Jones, Polly Willingham, and Laura Nell Anderson, Wesleyan students, Vivian Hay, ex '31, Eugenia Coleman, '31, and Martha (McCowen) Burnet, '31.

Estelle (Stevens) Mason's daughter, Estelle, now studying at Wesleyan, won distinction at Randolph-Macon Woman's College last year for her academic record. She was placed on the Dean's list.

Lucy Lester writes that she does not often see any of her classmates, but sees many Wesleyan alumnae, and she sends these notes about some of them:

"Katherine (Dean) Lee, 1903, sends me greetings through one of our instructors studying at the University of Chicago.

"Anne E. (Williams) Pearce, 1902, brings her daughter to enter F. S. C. W. this year.

"Lutie Westcott, 1888, in the department of Industrial Arts, Jennie (Turnbull) Sloan, 1887, Katherine Walker, 1926, in the library, and myself, 1905, in the department of Romance Languages, represent Wesleyan on the Florida State Woman's College campus.

"All the Bryan girls except Margaret, who was on a European cruise, were at the college for the dedication of a bronze memorial to their brother, Will Bryan, last spring.

"Georgia Wilder, ex 1905, was principal of the R. L. Hope school in Atlanta, where Lucy Lester III is enrolled.

"Jennie (Turnbull) Sloan is Director of Residence Halls. She and I called on Corinne (Turnbull) Yarborough just after her class reunion last June, and found her most enthusiastic."

1906

Class Secretary: Mrs. T. J. Stewart (Octavia Burden), Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

Octavia (Burden) Stewart attended a garden school at the Andrew Jackson in Knoxville, Tennessee, arranged by the Federated clubs of Tennessee. She spent a day in Knoxville with Augusta (Finney) Becking, and together they went to Signal Mountain.

A long feature article by Willie (Snow) Ethridge, A. B. '20, on the Ancestral Residence of Tom Stewart and his wife, Octavia (Burden) Stewart in Jones County appeared in The Macon Telegraph on October 18. The article describes the beautiful gardens around this magnificent old place which was owned by Mr. Stewart's great grandfather, sold in 1885 to outsiders, and rebought by him 35 years later. The place is named "Tomotavia," a combination of the first names of the Stewarts.

Gussie (Finney) Becking, of the class of 1905, but graduating in music in 1906, has a daughter, Mary Stewart Becking, ten years old, who promises to be a gifted musician. She gave a recital this spring, the only pupil who ever at her age gave a solo recital. The Chattanooga papers carried her picture and a most glowing account of this youthful musician's performance. Let us hope she will, like her mother, claim Wesleyan as her Alma Mater with both literary and music degree.

Nona (Hendry) Grady, now living in Washington, D. C., visited her sister, Tecoa (Hendry) Lewis for a month this summer in Macon. She was warmly welcomed by her former classmates and friends. Jennie (Riley) Crump, Julia (Riley) Struby and Octavia (Burden) Stewart entertained for her. Nona has a fine boy, Norman, 14 years of age.

It is noted with interest that 1906 continues to have one of its members on the official board of the Alumnae Association. Annabel Horn is fourth vice-president in charge of secondary school relations. Martha (Lewis) Kaderly was the second vice-president for the last term.

1907

Class Secretary: Mrs. Nelson Mallary (Willie Erminger), 117 Callaway St., Macon, Ga.

1908

Class Secretary: Mrs. Clayton Buchanan (Mattie Adams), 208 Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

1909

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. C. Cantrell (Estelle Manning), Carrollton, Ga.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Robert D. Shaw (Susie Kroner), 287 Arthur St., Plymouth, Michigan.

Jewell (Faver) Glass lives in La Grange, Georgia, with her "two children, one husband, one Nash car, and one home" which she says are her only claims to fame. Her daughter, Katherine, nineteen years old, is a junior at La Grange College, and Neil, her young son, is quite a French scholar. Jewell is active in club, civic, and church affairs besides writing poetry on the side and gardening. 1910 will feel confident that the poetry and gardens are lovely—remembering Jewell.

Her poem, "Willows", was published recently in the July-August issue of "Verse Craft." Jewell has had several other poems accepted for publication.

WILLOWS

When Spring selects the greening sprays
to make her shower bouquet,
She takes the sprigs from willows to begin
her flower display;
The willows are her favorites, and when their boughs are green,
They stand on tiptoe by the lake—admiringly
they preen.
Embroidered in soft hues of green, the crystal
placid lake
Floats clouds and water lilies pale. These clear reflections make
A silver magic mirror where the graceful willows dream;
Each charmed with her own image slim, so life-like does it seem.
Surrounded by staid mossy oaks and poplars still so bare,
They flaunt their carefree, youthful charms
—these willows debonair,
No wonder Spring is partial when she paints the trees each year;
The willows are responsive when they feel she's drawing near.

Elizabeth (Solomon) Smith—like lots of others who were very special—didn't realize until lately that she belongs to the class of 1910. Macon classmates will know that Elizabeth is quite closely connected with New Wesleyan—her husband "holds forth from early morn to dewy eve" (in her own words) in the new "pharm." Elizabeth says she often sees old Wesleyan friends of other days around at teas and things. I am sure many of us less fortunate ones envy her.

Frances (Graham) Goff is another 1910 special from the art department. Frances is in busines in her home town of Fort Gaines, Georgia, being connected with the Central of Georgia Railway there since she lost both her husband and her father. Frances says she sort of inherited this place as both her father and grandfather were agents for the Central of Georgia there. This position gives her numerous opportunities for travel—what with passes 'n'everything—and the accessories therefore keep her broke! Frances sends 1910 her love.

Jennie Daughtry answered my letters from Washington, D. C., where she spent the summer months acting as Publicity Agent for the National Illiteracy Crusade. She also wrote magazine and newspaper articles. This is easy for Jennie, however, as she often writes articles for such magazines as "Psychology" and "The Southern Agriculturist". At home in Macon, Jennie has her own "School of Expression and Domestic Art"—she sent me a very business-like folder about it.

Susie (Kroner) Shaw, Secretary

1911

Class Secretary: Mrs. F. C. Reese (Nancy Call Bryan), Box 392, Ortega, Fla.

1912

Class Secretary: Jennie Loyall, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

Frances (Hill) Gilmer's home is on Bayshore Boulevard in Tampa, Fla. Her children are Jean, age 17, and Helen, 11.

Wilma Orr and her mother, Minnie (Rockwell) Orr, '88, were hostesses at the largest party of the autumn season in Ft. Valley recently. They entertained 300 guests at tea in their lovely new home on West Church street.

Lucile Sasser is teaching music at South Georgia State College in Douglas, Ga.

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. J. Taylor (Elizabeth Baker), 1985 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

Wray (Chester) Jones has moved from Birmingham and is now living in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, where her husband is Manager of the National Cash Register Company. She writes: "Am looking forward to our reunion next May. Anne Cunningham and I had planned to go together from Birmingham."

1914

Class Secretary: Mrs. Carroll Griffin (Kathleen Holder), 115 16th St., N. W., Atlanta, Ga.

Class Captain: Eloise (Cooper) Cannon.

Theodora (Atkinson) Cobb, her husband and children, her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. J. Cobb, and Mildred Cobb, who came to Wesleyan in 1866, came to America in July on furlough after seven years in Japan. An interesting story is told of how Theodora's children feel about earthquakes. One of the children came home from school one day and said, "There was such a rumbling today that we were scared to death there was going to be an awful storm. But it wasn't anything but an earthquake."

Reunion Year! And aren't we lucky that Theodora (Atkinson) Cobb is here for her year's leave? You know "Dodie" and John B. are doing missionary work in China and are spending this year with relatives in Newnan and other places in Georgia.

This summer Nelia (Damour) Watt came from Thomasville to visit her sister, Mrs. George Damour, and I was thrilled to death to be invited to luncheon with her at the "Frances-Virginia", Frances (Wikle) Whitaker's tea room. Frances, with the help of her Mother and sisters operates the "Frances-Virginia Tea Room" most successfully. At the luncheon with us were Hooper (Wikle) Beck and Elizabeth (Baker) Taylor. Nelia brought two of her sons with her, but left the oldest in Macon in care of Grandmother Damour.

I saw Ruth (Ralston) Johnson at the tea that the Atlanta Club gave the 1931-32 Wesley-annes at the home of Lucy (Candler) Heinz, '04. Ruth is a member of the faculty of the Fulton High School and with her sons makes her home in Atlanta.

Class of 1914 seems to go in for politics.

This past summer I was employed in the State Senate and had the pleasure of being with several of our number or their husbands. That's the nice thing about living in Atlanta—almost everybody eventually comes here.

Holly (Twitty) Donaldson, was a member of our class our Freshman year. Her husband, George P. Donaldson, was a member of the legislature from Statesboro and she and her two sons, George and Billy, spent several days here. We took in a show together. Then Eloise (Cooper) Cannon and her daughter, Renee, were here with her husband, C. R. Cannon, representative from Rockdale County. They have recently moved from Conyers to Porterdale, where "Chet" is in business. I had news of Vera (Bond) Stapleton through her husband, Raymond Stapleton, who was here on business connected with his office as Judge of the City Court of Elberton.

Let's start some letters about reunion! Who'll be the first to drop me a card saying, "So far as I know now, I'll be there!"

Yours for 1914,

Kathleen Holder Griffin

1915

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. S. Dodd (Carolyn Knight), 1913 S. W. 11th St., Miami, Fla.

Class Captains: Jessie (Dickey) Strickland, Mary (Quillian) Poole, Willie Mae Little, Verna (French) Shaffer, Annie L. (Stowe) Fleming.

Kate (Lyons) Ainsworth, has moved to Spartanburg, S. C. where her husband, Malcolm Ainsworth, has taken over his new work as secretary of the Spartanburg Chamber of Commerce.

1916

Class Secretary: Mrs. Jessie W. Davis (Merlyn Hiley), Vineville Court Apt., Macon, Ga.

Captains: Lida Franklin, Christine Broome.

1917

Class Secretary: Georgia Baker, Public Library, Main Branch, Toledo, Ohio.

Ethleen (Pafford) Metz has a daughter, LaBlanche Pafford Metz, who is making quite a name for herself with radio audiences as a "blues singer." She is only six years old, and besides being a talented little dancer, has been offered three radio contracts.

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. L. Murphy (Marian Cook), 69 Pine Center, Rock View, L. I., N. Y.

Class Captains: Ray Ballard, Margaret (Atkinson) Clark, Genie Fincher Vail (Jones) Weems.

Dr. Mary (Harris) Armor has been lecturing on prohibition in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Massachusetts and Indiana. She returned to Georgia for the W. C. T. U. convention in Columbus.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Ruth (Houser) Garrett in the death of her husband, Dr. W. O. Garrett in September. Ruth is living now with her mother, Sara (Turner) Houser, A. B. '96, in Ft. Valley. She has two children, Billy and Hazel.

Anne (Howell) Payne of Bradenton, Fla., has a new son.

Friends of Ruth (Pike) Key will be interested to hear that she has moved with her husband and Billy, Jr., to Winston-Salem. Her address there is 712 Cloverdale Ave.

Harry Pape, husband of Kathleen (Rogers) Pape, was elected state Civitan governor at the district convention of Civitans held in Macon in October.

Mary Eliza (Sheppard) Holst of Ft. Myers, Fla., has a new son, Jack.

1919

Class Secretary: Mrs. A. L. Gilmore (Rosaline Jenkins), 1253 N. President St., Jackson, Miss.

Edith (Munroe) Askew of Roanoke, Alabama, has a little son, Billy, born in August. She has a daughter, Edith, eight years old.

1920

Class Secretary: Mrs. Mark Ethridge (Willie Snow), 538 Washington Ave., Macon, Ga.

Hattie Tracy (King) Hartness, according to Willie (Snow) Ethridge's column in the Telegraph, is teaching French to a class made up of her friends. Willie says: "It seems that a lot of her friends wanted to study French, so Hattie Tracy agreed to teach them. Now could anything be smarter than that? I studied French side by side with Hattie Tracy in Lanier and Wesleyan and yet I can't pronounce Andre Maurois' name without a death struggle. Some people are just naturally brighter than others."

Beulah (Smith) Jelks was delightfully entertained during a recent visit to her parents in Macon. Willie (Snow) Ethridge's column carried this story of one of the parties:

I had to sign off last week in the midst of telling you about the lovely tea which Beulah Smith Jelks, the wife of Howard, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., gave last Saturday afternoon for her Macon friends at the attractive brick bungalow of her sister, Margaret Weaver, the wife of Dr. "Hut."

Beulah, as you know, has been living in Florida for the past seven or eight years, and yet, my dear, I do believe she knows more people in Macon than I, who have been living here most of that time. Margaret's house was just full of Beulah's friends, several of whom I did not even know. I just don't seem to get around much any more.

Beulah looked very elegant at the party in an orchid colored georgette, which was close fitting and long. With her dark brown hair waved perfectly and rolled low on her neck she looked better than I had ever seen her. The way some people look lovelier the older they grow just makes me sick. I am in favor of people my age looking my age. They don't do it, though.

Hazel (Stokes) Thompson's husband, Dr. O. R. Thompson of Macon, has been honored with the degree of Fellow of the American College of Surgeons at a meeting of the college held in New York City.

Dorothy (Ware) Smith, her husband, Dr. Leon P. Smith, son of Dean L. P. Smith of Wesleyan faculty, and their two little daughters, Jean and Elinor, recently visited the Smiths in Macon, and Dorothy's mother, Nora (Ware) Wood, in Pineview.

Sympathy is extended to Louise (Strange) Kinnebrew in the death of her husband, Easton Hulme Kinnebrew at the age of 38. He was connected with the State Bureau of Markets, and died very suddenly. Louise has two sons, Easton Hulme Jr., and Thomas Dickey Kinnebrew.

1921

Class Secretary: Mrs. Eugene Torrance (Mary Fagan), 532 E. 37th St., Savannah, Ga.

Elizabeth (Clanton) Gainey attended summer school at Florida State College for Women the past summer.

1922

Class Secretary: Mrs. E. T. Flanders (Bruce Cleckler), 206 Buford Place, Macon, Ga.

Class captains: Jeffie (Bennett) Smith, Lillian (Cooper) Dasher, Josephine (Evans) Miller, Julia (Morgan) Wade, Flora (Rich) Moody, Helen (Owen) Forrester, Mary (Wilson) Adams.

Annie Pafford is hostess at Thomas Jefferson Hotel in Jacksonville, Fla.

Esther (Pierce) Maxwell is studying music at the School of Music at Northwestern University.

1923

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. A. Patterson (Ruth Sears), Cuthbert, Ga.

Class Captains: Frances (Martin) Asbury, Frances (Holder) Aderholt, Floy (Cook) Stevenson, Mildred (Shelton) Stokes, Eloise Bacon, Ruth (Daniel) Harper.

Genevieve (Broome) Jones was director of Camp Biloxi, a camp for girls in Biloxi, Miss., this summer, and later was hostess of Keller Lodge, the hotel on the Methodist Assembly grounds in Mississippi. She is living now in Bogota, N. J., where her husband is on the faculty of the high school. She and her husband and little daughter, Frances, enjoyed a camping trip through the east and in Canada in the late summer.

Elizabeth (Fulghum) Sherrill has two sons, Frank and John.

Hazel (Fulghum) Akers has three children, Anne, age six, Frank III, four, and Gail, one. She lives at 1340 Berwick Ave., Atlanta.

Fannie Belle Outler had a delightful trip to Europe this summer. She is recuperating from an appendicitis operation at present, and is at 1025 Lucile Ave., Atlanta.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mildred (Shelton) Stokes in the loss of her little son, William, in August. The little fellow was run over by an automobile in Washington, D. C., and lived only a few hours.

Margaret (Shingler) Moore has three charming little sons. Margaret and her family live in Florence, Ala.

1924

Class Secretary: Mary Thomas Maxwell, Dothan, Ala.

Class Captains: Nell (Lester) Buckner, Aurelia (Cooper) Evans, Carolyn (Fulghum) McCord, Elizabeth Malone, Catherine Craig, Sara Branch, Mary (Harwell) Crapps.

Sympathy is extended to Margaret (Cutter) Elder in the death of her mother recently.

Bonnie Sue (Davis) Awtrey has returned from Paris, France, and will be at home in Macon this winter. Her husband, Hugh Awtrey, will be a member of the Mercer University faculty.

Margaret (Vincent) Smith and her husband, Lieutenant Commander Allen Smith of the U. S. Navy, are living now in Norfolk, W. Va. They have a son, born September 12.

Class Secretary: Celeste Copelan, Greensboro, Ga.

Class Captains: Dorothy Dozier, Katherine Harmon, Eunice Thomson, Vo Hammie (Pharr) Carr, Hattie (Branch) Sibley, Loulie (Forrester) Burns, Mary K. Read.

Elizabeth Boykin is assistant health education director of the Y. W. C. A. in Carrollton. Elizabeth has been associate professor of physical education at G. S. C. W. in Milledgeville. She spent four summers at Eagles' Nest Camp in Brevard, N. C. as assistant swimming instructor and sports and dance counselor. She also attended New York University Camp at Sloatsburg, N. Y. She studied under Miss Harriet Ayers and Miss Mary Ella Soule at the University of Georgia, and Miss Leila Finan of Barnard College. She studied tap-dancing with Jack Clar of New York, and clogging with Miss Marian Knighton, author of "Athletic Dances and Simple Clogs." Elizabeth did health education work in the Seventy-Sixth Street and Henry Street settlements of New York.

Addie Beall (Early) Lowe received the M. A. degree from Mercer University in June.

Loulie (Forrester) Burns, her husband and little daughter, Claude Cason Burns, have moved to Macon, and live on Callaway Street.

Mae (Hill) Purce has a son, W. E. Jr., born during the summer.

Eunice Thomson spent the summer at Camp Andree, the national Girl Scout camp in Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., as captain of a troop of twenty scouts.

Class Secretary: Mrs. A. E. McIntosh (Dorothy Thomas), 15776 Turner Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Class Captains: Mildred (Jackson) Cole, Mamie Harmon, Roberta Howard, Sadie (Johnson) Langston, Marilee Hutchinson, Frances (Cater) Snow, Elizabeth (Middlebrooks) Carter, Anna Weaver.

Julius Amis is librarian in Albermarle, N. C.

Montie (Brooks) Keller and her husband are living in Griffin.

Louise (Johnson) Tillman, her little daughter, Thalia Jane, a beautiful child with golden curls and blue eyes, and "Eula," who was "elevator maid" at Wesleyan when Louise was a student, came to Macon to bring Louise's sister Thalia who entered the freshman class.

Elizabeth Peck is again field captain of the Girl Scouts in Toledo, Ohio. She had charge of the "Day Camp", opened in one of the city parks in Toledo for girls who were unable to attend the regular camp. In September she took a course in "Troop Camping" at Edith Macy, the national camp for girl scout leaders in N. Y.

Loralee (Watkins) Johnson's second child is a boy, Robert Lynn Jr., now one year old.

Class Secretary: Mrs. H. B. Hoover (Lucretia Jones), 53 Lexington Hall, Concord Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

Class Captains: Mildred (McLain) Launius, Elizabeth Coates, Sarah Louise Jordan, Evelyn (Aven) Thompson, Margaret (Fowler) Patton, Celestia (Smith) Paulk.

Elizabeth (Craven) Cobb and her fifteen-months-old son, Noel, Jr., spent several weeks in Macon in October and were frequent guests at Wesleyan. Elizabeth lives in Holland, Michigan, where her husband is editor of the local newspaper. Eighty-five per cent of the population of Holland are pure Dutch, and Elizabeth's tales of their traditionally scrubbed floors and shining pots, of their almost unbelievable capacity for work, of their hearty appetites and nine-o'clock coffee parties ("They have been at work hours by nine A. M.!" says she), of their blue-law Sundays when it is a crime even to roll a baby-carriage on the street, and of their clannish family reunions with president, vice-president, secretary, etc., smack of the Netherlands. There is even a wooden shoe factory in the city; many of the farmers still wear wooden shoes. Noel, Jr. is the healthiest of babies, "a sterilized, clock baby" says his mother, and full of boundless enthusiasm which is "the Yankee in him". Elizabeth's athletic tendencies are confined to running after him. "I walked from Chicago to Macon", she says, up and down the train."

Mildred (Gower) Sims found an interesting document about Wesleyan recently. She writes from Atlanta: "In my work here in the Secretary of State's office, I came upon a most interesting bit of old legislation. I was copying some Georgia law out of the Acts of the Legislature of 1843 and in looking over the book I happened to see the enclosed Act—an 'Act to incorporate a Wesleyan Female College, to be located in the city of Macon, Georgia'. To me it was intensely interesting. In case you do not have it, please accept this copy from me for I am still interested in the 'Oldest and Best'.

"With best wishes for the finest year ever and the finest girls too, with the exception of the Golden Heart girls of the class of 1927".

Mary Marsh is head librarian at Southwestern College in Memphis, Tennessee.

Emily Neel is doing graduate work at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tennessee. She writes: "Since I saw that Mary Lou Cate was married this summer at Scarritt chapel I had hoped to find her located here. This morning at Sunday School I introduced myself to one of the leaders whose name was Cate in hopes that he might be related to Mary Lou. He said they were distantly related—only four between. And then it dawned on me that he was telling me he is her brother. The Quillions are to live just around the corner from me. I am looking forward to seeing them when they come." (Mary Lou's sister, Elizabeth, is teaching in the department of ancient language at Wesleyan this year.)

Celestia (Smith) Paulk is teaching expression in Calhoun, Ga. this year, where her husband is coach and mathematics and science teacher.

A long article appeared in the Douglas Enterprise in October about Mary Stanford, who teaches Latin in the high school in Douglas. The article is full of praise for the "efficient service and unselfish interest" given by this teacher since she came to the school in 1927. She has helped with the school plays and given suggestions for all the high school banquets. Her room won the flag awarded by the P. T. A. last year,

Mildred (Strozier) Martin has a little girl, born September 20.

Class Secretary: Mrs. E. W. Strozier, Jr. (Mary Nell Wiley) Oxford, Ga.

Class Captains: Dorothy Spearman, Dorothy McKay, Elizabeth Carter, Louise Clark.

Dorothy Alexander, Elizabeth Gaulding, and Annie Mays are the graduates of '28 who are studying this year at the Atlanta Library School.

Carroll (Boyd) English is not teaching this year, but is keeping house at her home, "Shadybrook Farm", near Ft. Myers, Fla. She says that Ling Nyi Vee, who was her "freshman" at Wesleyan and who is now Mrs. S. C. Wong of Peking University, China, says she misses America frightfully and things American, especially the dime stores, so Carroll is sending her a box for Christmas of "time savers" from the ten cent store, a sort of "kitchen shower" contributed by her many Wesleyan friends.

Margaret Chapman has gone into Girl Scout work as field captain in Charleston, W. Va. ANNOUNCING A NEW TRAVEL SERVICE FOR ALUMNI

Convenient and Enjoyable Travel Assured by the Appointment of the American Express Company as the Official Travel Bureau of the Intercollegiate Alumni Extension Service Whether, for you, a trip is a regular event or an occasional holiday—whether you circle the globe or merely “week-end”—whether you travel for educational reasons or for pleasure—the American Express facilities which are now available to alumni will make your travels more carefree and enjoyable! You will find travel under the auspices of this well-known, world-wide organization free from worry and detail—bothersome arrangements will have been made in advance for you—you will be eagerly welcomed and treated as an honored guest everywhere you go!

Complete Service Offered!

The 99 American Express offices in all the important cities in the world are your business and social headquarters. There you will meet your friends, receive your mail, cables and radio messages; and there experienced and courteous travel men will map your itinerary, arrange for your sight-seeing trips and reserve your accommodations on boats, railways and airplanes. The Company's 190 uniformed interpreters stationed at piers, depots and frontier points will lend you necessary assistance and guide you through the customs. American Express Travelers Cheques will protect and insure your travel funds.

Special Alumni Tours Planned

The lure of travel on our beautiful, intensely interesting little planet is almost universal, but travel has an especial appeal to college men and women for cultural reasons, because it is the most enjoyable and beneficial form of adult education. The American Express Company is studying the travel preferences of alumni and plans to offer special tours and to form groups which will have certain educational, research and artistic goals. You will be acquainted with these special offerings through these pages in the future.

Independent Travel Arranged

You may wish to travel independently or with your own friends, following an itinerary of your own choice. Experienced travel men of the American Express Company will route a trip for you according to your own ideas of where you wish to go, for how long and how much you wish to spend. All your plans will then be made in advance and your pathway smoothed for you.

Agents For Travel—Everywhere

The American Express Company can procure steamship, rail and air passage for you, at regular tariff rates, no matter where you may wish to travel. The Company is also an agent for all approved cruises and tours being offered for the coming winter travel season.
